

WOMEN SHOUT TO CONGRESS FOR THE BALLOT

House and Senate Are Besieged by Delegation of Suffragettes.

MRS. CHAPMAN CATT GREATLY IN EVIDENCE

She Did Much of the Talking and Was Ably Seconded by Helva Lockwood and Many Others. Senator Owen Also Spoke for the Women.

Washington, March 3.—The advocates of female suffrage were today given their annual opportunity to present pleas to congress, the presentation to the senate being made before the committee on woman's suffrage, and to the house before the judiciary committee.

Senator Clay of Georgia presided over the senate committee, and Rev. Anna Shaw, as the president of the National Woman's Suffrage Association, introduced the speakers, the first of whom was Mrs. Helva Lockwood, who has the distinction of being the only woman who ever made the race for the presidency. Mrs. Lockwood expressed confidence in the support of her cause by the committee.

Mrs. Fanna Fernald, president of the Maine Woman's Suffrage Association, made an eloquent plea for "A voice in government which controls every interest we hold dear."

Mrs. Catt in Evidence.

The house hearing was presided over by Chairman Jenkins, of the judiciary committee, and was in charge of Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton, of Ohio. The speakers before the house committee were Miss Emma Gillette of Washington, Mrs. Chapman Catt of New York, Mrs. Richmond W. Fitzgerald of Massachusetts, Senator Owen of Oklahoma, Mrs. Emma Funk of Maryland, Mrs. Mary E. Craigie of New York, Mrs. Ida Porter Boyer of Pennsylvania and Miss Kate Gordon of Louisiana.

Mrs. Catt showed that the condition of women in foreign countries, and even in Great Britain, where such agitation of woman suffrage was now going on, was better than in the United States. She claimed that the male suffrage of foreign countries who emigrated to these shores, after a year or two of residence, was given the ballot and allowed to vote on questions vitally affecting woman. Still, woman herself is denied the right to ballot.

Most of the speakers claimed that woman should be given the ballot as a matter of right. They pointed out that her education was equal, and, in many cases superior, to that of man; claimed that to her was entrusted the training of the future voters of the country, and contended that if she was competent to raise her sons so that they might become good citizens, she certainly was competent to be given the right of ballot.

"Machine Politics" in Louisiana.

It was claimed by Miss Gordon that it had not been for "machine politics," Louisiana would have declared in favor of woman suffrage.

Mrs. Craigie advanced the claim that the action of the states in disfranchising women was unconstitutional. The original constitution, she said, made no restriction as between the sexes.

Mrs. Boyer spoke of the influence of motherhood upon the future voters. She was interrupted by Mr. Alexander, of New York, who said that his mother had died 43 years ago, and that the principles she taught her son had been followed by that son for the past forty years.

"If everyone," replied Mrs. Boyer, "had had the surroundings, the environment and the ability of your mother's son, this room would be filled with senators."

The address of Senator Owen was frequently interrupted with applause. He paid a glowing tribute to womanhood, and earnestly advocated universal suffrage. He said that many sound reasons of an economic nature could be advanced why woman should be given the ballot.

Women in Oklahoma.

In reply to a question by Mr. Alexander, as to whether women had been given universal suffrage in the new state constitution of Oklahoma, he replied that they had not; that their suffrage was limited to voting on school questions. He claimed that the saloon element in Oklahoma had defeated the universal suffrage proposition, and said that if women had questioned every candidate before the election they would have carried that point.

Mr. Alexander inquired of Senator Owen if he would be willing to give the ballot to the low class of immigrant women who came to this country.

"Yes," replied Senator Owen, "because the vote of the male immigrants is largely dominated by the saloon and brothel influences, and the vote of the women would counteract the votes of this class of males." The senator pointed out that in the states where woman suffrage is universal the percentage of women convicts is very low. He said in Wyoming there is not one woman now incarcerated in the penitentiary. He contended that the vote of the women would largely be against corruption and immorality in the states.

At the conclusion of the hearing Mrs. Upton stated to the committee that for years women had been coming before congress asking for their rights, but that the committee had taken no action on their petitions. She now asked the judiciary committee if it could not make a favorable report on the joint resolution, to make an unfavorable one that the

UNCLE REMUS'S MAGAZINE AT A COST OF $150,000 BUYS HOME MAGAZINE

Atlanta Publication Secures the Leading Magazine of the Middle West.

COMBINED CIRCULATION NEAR THE 300,000 MARK

The Home Magazine Will Be Consolidated with Uncle Remus's Magazine and Issued from the Plant of the Latter in Atlanta.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 3.—(Special.) A sensation was created in the advertising and magazine world when it was announced today that Uncle Remus's Magazine had purchased The Home Magazine and that the two would be consolidated and issued from the big plant of the former publication, under the editorship of Joel Chandler Harris.

It has been known for a month that many offers had been made the Bobbs-Merrill Company for The Home Magazine, which has been such a splendid and satisfactory output of the publishing company. Not finding it necessary to sell except on their own terms and in their own time, these offers, which came from Chicago and the east, were refused.

Uncle Remus's Magazine Succeeds.

Learning that others were seeking to secure The Home for consolidation purposes, the publishers of Uncle Remus's Magazine approached the Bobbs-Merrill Company with a request for a price. While the terms seemed rather high, back of The Home were statements which showed its strength and popularity. Every statement made by the Bobbs-Merrill Company was investigated by the publishers of Uncle Remus's Magazine and every statement whether in reference to circulation, advertising or expenses was found absolutely correct.

The result reached after a week of preliminary was the forthcoming consolidation of these two distinctively American magazines, beginning with the May issue.

The price for which the Bobbs-Merrill Company parted with The Home Magazine was considerably in excess of $150,000. The consolidation of The Home with Uncle Remus's Magazine means that the latter, published in Atlanta, takes instant rank in circulation and age with the leading publications in the country.

Circulation of 300,000.

The circulation of The Home Magazine is 205,000 and that of Uncle Remus's Magazine is 71,000. The combination of the two is a big move toward the 300,000 mark.

The Home Magazine is unquestionably the leading publication of its class in the middle west, where the bulk of its circulation is secured. Uncle Remus's Magazine is the only magazine in the south of national scope. Under the editorship of Joel Chandler Harris it has won a recognition from advertisers and gained a circulation in one year that few magazines do in three. The combined magazines will have a total of 65,000 in the central west. This is a total of 220,000 circulation in the two richest sections in the world, in addition to eastern, far west and foreign circulation.

Great Importance of Deal.

It is almost impossible to measure accurately the full importance of the move made by Uncle Remus's Magazine in purchasing The Home. Back of The Home Magazine, in addition to age and a tremendous circulation, is one of the greatest records of result-giving ever made by a publication. What the circulation of Uncle Remus's Magazine and that of The Home combined will do needs no expert for elucidation. The consolidated magazines will have a full cooperation of the Bobbs-Merrill Company, whose record for securing the best of artists and the most popular of novels has been a strong one.

Incidentally, it is stated, that Will N. Harben's new big serial "Gilbert Neal" will begin in the April issue of both Uncle Remus and The Home Magazine and will continue in the combined publications.

Not a Foraker or Dick Man Left on the State Central Committee. Every Mention of Taft's Name Was Greeted With Applause.

Columbus, Ohio, March 3.—The republicans of Ohio who met today in state convention placed the entire party machinery of the state in the hands of William H. Taft and his political followers, and dealt a staggering blow to the interests of Senators Foraker and Dick by wiping off the state central committee every man who was known to have any bias in their favor. Every member of the new state committee is a Taft man. Walter I. Brown, of Toledo, was reelected chairman, and Malcolm Karshner, of Columbus, secretary.

The committee of permanent organization decided tonight to report in favor of Attorney General Wade L. Ellis for permanent chairman. The pictures of Senators Foraker and Dick were hung in the convention hall, and the platform which will be presented tomorrow has in it tonight a plank commending the "Ohio representatives in congress" without, however, mentioning any of them by name. At the same time another plank which is also in the platform tonight strongly endorses the passage of the railway rate bill, which was opposed in congress by Senator Foraker.

The convention was called to order by Chairman Walter Brown, of the state central committee, who announced that the temporary organization of the convention would be: Chairman, James R. Garfield, secretary of the interior; Secretary R. M. Switzer, of the treasury; and Secretary Garfield's name was the signal for an outbreak of applause, which was deepened when he advanced to the front of the platform to deliver his address. Cheers greeted every mention of Taft and the platform of Ohio was about to furnish another president created a bedlam of approval.

Following the announcement of the names of the committeemen an adjournment was taken until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

Governor Andrew L. Harris will be renominated for another term by acclamation. Every mention of his name today called forth enthusiastic cheers.

Holland-American Liner Leaves Ways at Belfast.

Belfast, Ireland, March 3.—The steamer Rotterdam, the 14,770-ton Holland-American liner, was successfully launched here this morning.

An attempt was made February 23 to launch the Rotterdam, but the liner refused to take the water, owing to the tremendous pressure on the ways which had not been properly greased. As a consequence a squad of three hundred men were at once detailed to watch the vessel for fear of accident.

Effort to Extradite Roy.

Washington, March 3.—Application was made to the state department today for the necessary authority to extradite from France Paul E. Roy, charged with responsibility for the death of George A. Carkins, in New Hampshire. The action on the application was not announced.

Moore Memorial Church Will Celebrate Its Thirty-Fourth Anniversary.

At the Moore Memorial church tonight anniversary services will be held by the members at 8 o'clock to celebrate the thirty-fourth year of its organization.

The church was started in 1874, there being sixteen charter members. For a long while no pastor was regularly at the head, but in 1880 Rev. M. Jeff Smith took charge, remaining with the church until 1887, when Dr. Holdridge was made pastor. The latter has been continually in service since that time. The birthday celebration is the biggest event in the Moore Memorial church, and as a consequence special exercises are always prepared for the occasion.

Of the sixteen charter members there are now only seven living, but the membership of the church has been on the increase from year to year.

Friends of the church are cordially invited to be present.

$70,000,000 AS MAIL GRAFT FOR RAILWAYS

Charged in House That Roads Have Illegally Secured That Sum Since 1880.

POSTAL DEPARTMENT IS ATTACKED BY LLOYD

He Wants to Know Why Suits Have Not Been Brought to Secure the Colossal Sum Wrongfully Paid to the Railroads.

Washington, March 3.—The charge that the government had been robbed of over $70,000,000 since 1880 by railroads carrying the mails was made on the floor of the house of representatives today by Mr. Lloyd, of Missouri. He referred to the new system of weighing the mails recently introduced by the postmaster general and declared that it was an admission that the postoffice department had allowed the people of the country to be mulcted out of the sum stated.

He demanded to know why suits had not been instituted against the railroads to recover this money. No suits, he charged, had been filed and none suggested.

"I will call upon the chairman of the committee to audit and control the expenses of the postoffice department," he exclaimed, "to investigate that department and ascertain whether there is anything wrong in it."

Mr. Wagner, of Pennsylvania, the chairman, pledged a careful investigation into the subject.

Mr. Lloyd, referring to the retirement of Mr. Madden, the third assistant postmaster general, and the proposition to drop twenty-two postoffice inspectors, declared that they were from the beginning all "marked" men because of their connection in one way or another with the suppression of certain publications. "We have too much bureaucracy," he exclaimed. "We need more law and less departmental rule."

"GIVE US ATLANTA GOODS" WILL BE BUYERS' SLOGAN

Chamber of Commerce Committee Plans to Organize "Consumers' League."

ALL INFANT INDUSTRIES WILL BE GREATLY AIDED

Enthusiastic Meeting Held by the Committee on Commerce of the Chamber of Commerce—All Committees Are Busy at Work.

Following an enthusiastic meeting of the "committee on commerce," of which F. J. Paxton is chairman, at the chamber of commerce, yesterday afternoon, it was decided to organize in Atlanta a "consumers' league." In order that the women of the city may become interested in the "Made in Atlanta" crusade.

The plan of the "consumers' league" as outlined by Mr. Paxton is as follows:

Mr. Atlanta walks into a haberdasher's and asks to see some ties. He is shown a display, and asks: "Have you any 'Made in Atlanta'?" If not, he walks until he does find some. Then, all things being equal, he buys the Atlanta-made goods to patronize home industries.

Miss Atlanta goes into a dry goods store and asks to see skirts, and also asks for skirts "Made in Atlanta." All things being equal, she buys the Atlanta-made goods.

And so the league is to be organized and grow.

Build Up Industries.

"It will build up our infant industries as nothing else can," stated Mr. Paxton. "Let twenty people ask the same clerk for Atlanta-made suspenders, and he will think the town has gone wild for Atlanta and save freight; he can afford to make a better grade, and he will do so, too."

Present at this meeting who took especial interest in the discussion were F. J. Paxton, who is general chairman of the committee on commerce; St. Elmo Massengale, chairman of the committee on miscellaneous industries; D. O. Dougherty, chairman of the committee on wholesale trade; John A. Brice, chairman of the committee on public utility; Secretary Walter G. Cooper, of the chamber of commerce, and through their reports the following also were represented: E. S. Ehney, chairman of the committee on cotton trade; Oscar Pappenebauer, of the committee on the larger manufacturers, and John Hill, of the committee on manufacturers' agents.

The chairman have appointed committees, and these have been scouring the city for the purpose of getting the names of all manufacturers.

ON ANARCHISTS UNITED STATES DECLARES WAR

Immigration Officers Ordered to Aid in Deporting All Known "Reds."

CHICAGO AUTHORITIES ALSO DECLARE WAR

Police Rounding Up All Persons of Anarchistic Belief—The Higher Officials of the City Are Now Carrying Pistols.

Washington, March 3.—The secretary of commerce and labor today issued a sweeping order to all commissioners of immigration and immigrant inspectors in charge directing them to confer with the police in their respective jurisdictions with a view to "securing the cooperation of the police and detective forces in an effort to rid the country of alien anarchists and criminals falling within the law relating to deportation."

The Order of the Secretary.

The order of Secretary Straus follows:

To all commissioners of immigration and immigrant inspectors in charge:

"It is hereby directed that, with a view to promptly obtain definite information with regard to alien anarchists and criminals located in the United States, you shall confer fully with the chief of police or the chief of the secret service of the city in which you are located, furnishing such official with detailed information with regard to the meaning of the term 'anarchist' as used in the immigration act of February 20, 1907, and with regard to the inhibition of that statute against the entry of the criminal classes, explaining the powers and limitations imposed by said statute upon the immigration officials with respect to such persons."

"You should call to the attention of the chief of police or chief of the secret service, the definition of 'anarchist' contained in sections 2 and 38 of the act of February 20, 1907, and the provisions of section 2 placing within the excluded class of persons who have been convicted of or admitted having committed a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, pointing out that if any such person is found within the United States within three years after landing or entry therein, he is amenable to deportation under the provisions of section 21 of the act."

The Evidence Necessary.

"The cooperation of said officials should be requested, making it clear that in order that any particular anarchist or criminal may be deported, evidence must be furnished showing (1) that the person in question is an alien subject to this immigration act; (2) that he is an anarchist or criminal as defined in the statute; (3) the date of his arrival in the United States; (4) that he was within three years of the date of his arrest; (5) the name of the vessel or of the transportation line by which he came; if possible, and (6) the name of the country he came from; the details with respect to the last three items being kept as confidential as possible in such a manner as to be available if information is furnished with respect to the anarchist's name, the date of his arrival, and the port of entry."

"It is desired that the above indicated steps shall be taken at once, and that no proper effort shall be spared to secure and retain the cooperation of the local police and detective forces in an effort to rid the country of alien anarchists and criminals falling within the provisions of the statute relating to deportation."

but, in attempting to assassinate Chief of Police Shippy, carried out a commission entrusted to him by a group of Chicago anarchists, was declared by Assistant Chief of Police Schuetter tonight to have been proven beyond a doubt. The discovery was made just as the police were about to accept the theory that the young anarchist acted upon his own impulse, and that the attempt was not the result of a conspiracy. The group of anarchists also plotted, according to information in the hands of the authorities, to assassinate Mayor Busse and Captain P. D. O'Brien, one of the detective bureau. The principals in the plot have not yet been discovered, but it was stated that Averbuch was picked to execute the order of death at a meeting of anarchists which he attended last Thursday night. The net results of police activity during the day and evening was the roundup of nine suspects. Three, which are considered by the police important, were made late in the afternoon. A man who gave his name as Harry Goldstein, and who is said to be an agent of the Edelstein, an anarchist organization at 407 Union street, was taken into custody, while distributing handbills of a rabid anarchist nature. Two other suspects, whose names were withheld, were arrested and subjected to a rigid examination at the city hall.

A crew, secured early in the day, led to the arrest of Isadore Maron, who, for a time, was believed to be the "curly-haired" companion of Averbuch, the would-be assassin, as described to the police by Olga Averbuch, sister of the dead man. This was later decided not to be the case, but Maron admitted an association with Chicago anarchists to warrant his being placed in a cell. Another crew led to the arrest of William H. Abramowitz, 20 years of age, a Russian Jew, and a student at the University of Chicago Night school, employed as a printer in the day time. His "sweating" by the police lasted until late in the evening. The others under arrest were held more because of their affiliation with anarchist societies than from any expression connecting them with the attempted assassination of the police head.

The organized movement against anarchy by the authorities began with a conference at the home of Chief Shippy, in which Mayor Busse and Assistant Chief of Police Schuetter took part. It resulted in a meeting being arranged for tomorrow, at which the mayor, the police officials and States Attorney Healy will try to work out a plan of cooperation. District Attorney Sims also met a number of city officials in the mayor's office, and the question of federal assistance in the rounding up of anarchists was taken up.

LIFE OF ARCHBISHOP FARLEY MENACED BY ANARCHISTS.

New York, March 3.—The order of Secretary Straus, of the department of commerce and labor, for the deportation of such alien anarchists and criminals as the law can reach will be enforced promptly and vigorously by the local and federal authorities working in harmony with the municipal police.

Commissioner of Immigration Wat- chorn is keenly alive to the situation, and his subordinates are already schooled in what is expected of them. Police Commissioner Bingham tonight stated that the local police were exercising now every precautionary measure possible, and that he would continue to do his best.

Special detectives are scattered throughout the Wall street section, neighborhoods of the wealthy receive special attention, and the haunts of the suspected are closely watched. A report that Archbishop Farley, head of the Catholic church in New York, had been threatened by anarchists, reached Commissioner Bingham today, but he would not confirm it later. The archbishop's subordinates, however, have been in communication with the police in an effort to hunt down the authors.

HOLD UP CLERK-ROB STORE

Store Was Burglarized by Three Masked Negroes.

Montgomery, Ala., March 3.—Three masked negroes entered the store of Bryant Reynolds at Tharin, this county, after dark last evening, and at the point of pistols held up T. E. Robinson, a clerk, in the store.

They robbed the safe of $70 and escaped before an alarm could be given. A sheriff's posse has been sent to the scene from Montgomery and will pursue the robbers.

MAN OUT OF EMPLOYMENT ASKS TO BE OSLERIZED

New York, March 3.—John Coe, who described himself as a clerk out of employment, applied at Bellevue hospital yesterday to be "oslerized." He said that he had outlived his usefulness and that recent experiments with chemicals had destroyed all the organs of his body save his lungs. He expressed great admiration for Dr. Osler and asked to be chloroformed in accordance with ideas which he had heard attributed to him. He was taken to the psychopathic ward for observation as to his sanity.

GAINS ARE MADE FOR NO LICENSE

Anti-Whisky People Secure Victory in Vermont Elections.

Montpelier, Vt., March 3.—Fair weather prevailing throughout the state today, the city and town elections brought out a strong vote, the special interest in all sections centering upon the license vote.

The present republican mayors were reelected in St. Albans and Vergennes, and the present citizens' party mayors were reelected in Barre and Montpelier. The republicans in Rutland elected their candidate for mayor.

The "no license" party was said to have secured a victory in the cities of the state, for while one city, Burlington, swung from no license to license, two others, Barre and St. Albans, changed from wet to dry. Rutland sustained her license position of a year ago by a somewhat stronger vote, and Vergennes and Montpelier continue as no license towns.

Returns from the three northern counties of the state, Franklin, Orleans and Essex, show that the no license faction made a decided gain.

Returns from the 246 towns throughout the state show that twenty-nine towns voted for license this year, against thirty-three last year.

BRITT DRAWS WITH NELSON

Los Angeles, Cal., March 3.—Jimmie Britt, of San Francisco, and Battling Nelson, of Chicago, met in a ten-round contest here tonight. The fight went the limit. There was no decision.

D. C. HILL DIES IN FLORIDA.

He Was a Brother of L. J. Hill, of Atlanta.

Washington, Ga., March 3.—(Special.) Telegraphic advice was received here today announcing the death of Hon. D. C. Hill this morning at the home of his daughter in West Palm Beach, Fla., where he had been for several weeks in search of health.

Mr. Hill was in his seventy-fourth year, and was one of the most prominent planters of Wilkes county. He is a brother of L. J. Hill, of this city, and a half-brother of Hon. E. Y. Hill, of this city.

The funeral arrangements have not been announced yet, but the remains will be brought to Wilkes county for interment about Thursday.

ROSSIETER IS SELECTED.

He Will Be Named Public Printer by Roosevelt.

Washington, March 3.—It is understood the president has decided to appoint W. S. Rossieter, of New York, to be public printer to succeed Chas. S. Stillings, of Massachusetts. Mr. Rossieter has been for several years chief clerk of the census office, and a recently was detailed by the president to make an examination into the conduct of business at the government printing office.

DR. PETERSON PASSES AWAY.

Was Former President of Alabama Girls' Industrial School.

Montevallo, Ala., March 3.—Dr. Francis M. Peterson, former president of the Alabama Girls' Industrial School, died this morning and his body has been shipped to Greensboro, Ala., for interment.

A year ago the health of Dr. Peterson failed and he resigned his office, going to Colorado to recuperate. He was a Methodist minister and a man of distinction in state affairs.

Randolph Primary June 4.

Cuthbert, Ga., March 3.—(Special.)—Randolph county executive committee named June 4, the same date as the state primary, for the election of county officers, senator and representative.

THEATERS

At the Grand.

Superlatives are in order in discussing "Salomy Jane," in which Eleanor Robson and the best balanced cast which has ever been in Atlanta, appeared at the Grand last night, for no other play of the season has so caught the spirit of the western life and so beautifully and artistically portrayed it, and still left to the imagination those blood and thunder details so inseparably connected in the public mind with this type of show.

As the curtain went down on act after act, it became apparent to everyone that Eleanor Robson and her management were not seeking to make her reputation the greater by surrounding her with poor actors, in contrast with whom she would shine the more brilliantly. The very best in the country had been secured for the different parts, from that of Little Willie Smith to Colonel Starbottle, and every actor made the most of his or her opportunity. Eleanor Robson apparently intended to win her way to the appreciation of her audience along the lines of the greatest resistance, to prove her talent indisputably, and to leave the impress of her beauty and grace. Her success was unquestioned.

The curtain went up on a scene in the Redwoods, a magnificent scenic effect. Salomy Jane, a pretty young girl of a mining camp, had been grossly insulted by a miner. She appealed to Rufe Waters, who sought her hand in marriage, promising to become his wife when he killed her insult. He did not have the nerve to do the deed, and the girl turned from him in disgust. In the meantime, however, The Man had been on the trail of the same man, had met him in front of a saloon, and after a few words shot him to death. The vigilantes held a meeting to plan the capture of the murderer, and also the men who had organized a stage hold-up, and robbed the passengers. Red Pete, the hold-up man, and The Man, as he is called, were captured at the same time, the vigilantes believing that they were partners in the hold-up of the stage. Red Pete said goodbye to his wife, and then the leader of the vigilantes suggested that Salomy Jane say goodbye to The Man, who said he had no one to leave a message for. So they met for the second time, and her gratitude to him for killing her insult warmed into love as she held his hand. She kissed him goodbye, and Red Pete and The Man were left off. Red Pete to be hanged, The Man to make his escape on the way.

And finally, through the generosity of Jack Marbury, the gambler, who also loved Salomy Jane, but was superior to jealousy, The Man and Salomy Jane found their way clear to the border line, beyond which lay freedom and love for both, the play winding up with Salomy Jane's ingenious question, "say, man, what is your name?"

In secondary vein was the feud between Salomy Jane's father and Larabee, and the unique courtship of Red Pete's widow by Yuba Bill, the stage driver, whose love for Mary Ann, Red Pete's little daughter, made him forget that his father was the man who held up the stage and shot him through the arm.

Every man, every woman, every child in the cast was a star. Mary Ann Heath and Anna May Heath and Willie Smith were characters as skillfully played by the children, and the work of Scott Cooper as Yuba Bill, Ada Dryer as Lize Heath, and H. B. Warner as The Man. George Wilson was excellent as Colonel Starbottle, one of the most interesting characters in the play. A. S. Lipman added much to the local color by his finished and artistic portrayal of Jack Marbury, the gambler.

No matter how poor a supporting company, however, had been given Miss Robson, she would have afforded an evening of pleasure for even the most critical. Generally a great agent overdoes things when he sends in his notices. This time he did not say enough in praise of the little woman, who a few years ago gave Atlanta a thrill of heart by the children, and this season has made up for that in the enjoyment of "Salomy Jane" in production, which no lover of the best in every line, can afford to miss. Matinee and night performance.

Robert Moran.

Lillian Russell in "Wildfire."

In a new racing comedy, "Wildfire," at the Grand Thursday night. The play is by George Broadhurst and George W. Hobart. The earmark of the Broadhurst humor, and the witty dialogue of the well-known, is a part brand this bit of a comedy goes sparkling through three acts with action and vim. A clever company plays the comedy. Roy Farnham, Herbert Corbett, Morgan Ward and Harry G. Stafford are particularly good. Miss Annie Buckley as Hortense, the negro maid, is very clever, but the charm of the minor characters is Will Archie as Bud, a stable boy of distinctive stature, but with such unctuous humor that his mere presence brings delight.

At the Bijou.

These two original comedians, Murray and Mack, are making things decidedly lively this week for patrons of the Bijou. The two comedians are a whole show in themselves, but they have very wisely surrounded them with a company of the well-known, including one of the daintiest and prettiest choruses that has graced the Bijou stage this season. The fun commences from the moment Little Mack makes his entrance on the stage and lasts to the finale of the second act, and between times there are pleasing and timely musical numbers and clever specialties introduced which keep things lively throughout the show.

The advance sale for the balance of the week is unusually large and those who would get seats are advised to call early.

question may be discussed on the floor of the house.

Women Before Senators.

Among the speakers before the senate committee were Mrs. Isabella C. Barrows, wife of Former Representative Barrows, and Mrs. Ella Crosssett and Anna Miner, of New York; Mrs. Ella S. Stewart, of Illinois; Mrs. Ida Husted Harper, Susan B. Anthony's biographer; Mrs. Laura Clay, of Kentucky, and Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt. Miss Miller, of New York, protested against a condition that forces women to pay taxes and forbids the vote for what they want. She said that Governor Hughes, of New York, had epitomized the case of women suffragists in three words:

"Something for nothing."

"You are," she said addressing members of the committee, "uncrowned sovereigns, likewise our employers employed by voters but paid in part by women."

Miss Clay asserted that liquor forces constitute the only real opposition to equal suffrage.

TAFT AS A PRESIDENTIAL POSSIBILITY

Assuming him to be president, who knows what Mr. Taft would do? As one who wishes the gentleman well, I am no less driven to say that I fear he would do nothing. For one sinister sign he is ever looking for a judgeship, which is only another way of saying that he is ever looking for a chance to sit down. The White House is no place for tired people. There may be rest for the weary, rest for the wicked, but there's no rest for a president who seeks to do right. He must be a Hecla of industry—a Corliss engine in trousers and frock coat.

There are other elements of contrast between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Taft. Given one smooth and suave and plausible to do the fooling, I think Mr. Taft might be fooled. There be those—the Hon. Elihu Root, for example—who could pack him in cotton batting and sing him to sleep.

Then will arise a final question of the popular. Suppose the party, listening to Mr. Roosevelt, names Mr. Taft, can he be elected? Following a nomination, the Roosevelt name won't help him; it will hurt him. If he is nominated there will come vicious millions of money to defeat him. As against this yellow peril, even a Roosevelt indorsement might be found insufficient. It is one thing to vote for Mr. Roosevelt, another to vote with him, a truth which would find demonstration were the test to be made.

Folk interested, particularly Mr. Roosevelt, should think on these things, before venturing too far up matters in which so much is at stake. The Republicans are not necessarily a dominant factor in national politics. Mr. Roosevelt wasn't elected by Republicans, but in spite of them. With Mr. Johnson, of Minnesota, pitted against him, Mr. Taft would be beaten. The best hope, if not the only hope, of Mr. Taft, would be that the Democrats might nominate a nobody whose prospects the Ryan and the Belmont upas trees could be relied upon to blight.

And yet there is a word or two in defense of Mr. Taft, since his position was a false one. In this hunt for a nomination, he does not represent himself; but Mr. Roosevelt. And while Mr. Roosevelt, as president, is precisely what I want, and all I want, I can readily make out what a difficult task it must be for Mr. Taft, however upright his intentions, to stand in the Roosevelt shadow, "imitations," said Dr. Johnson, "are always failures," and he might have added that imitations of sentiment are the greatest.

FINISH OF FISH COMES AT LAST

Long Struggle for Control of Illinois Central Ended.

HARRIMAN IN FULL CONTROL

Fish Is Put Out of the Directorate and Titus Elected to Succeed
Him—There Was a Small
Representation of Stock at Meeting.

Chicago, March 3.—The long struggle for control of the Illinois Central Railroad ended at least temporarily today when the oft-adjourned annual meeting of stockholders held its final session and elected four directors.

With only formal protests recorded by the interests headed by Stuyvesant Fish which have been opposing the administration of the road, E. H. Harriman and John Jacob Astor were re-elected; A. G. Hackstaff was chosen to fill out the unexpired term of John C. Welling and Jos. F. Titus was elected to succeed Stuyvesant Fish. Mr. Titus, however, is to serve only a few weeks, President Harriman announcing to the stockholders that J. Ogden Armour, of Chicago, will be chosen in place of Mr. Titus as soon as the stock owned by Mr. Armour can be transferred, thus making him a stockholder of record.

Mr. Fish was not present at the meeting and only a few of his allies were there. Neither were the bulk of the proxies held by Mr. Fish presented to the proxy committee. The report of that body showed that 584,688 shares out of a total of 950,400 outstanding were entitled to be voted. Of these 584,456 were held by President Harriman.

The comparatively small representation of stock at the meeting had one effect which was a bit disappointing to the administrative forces. With less than two-thirds of the outstanding stock voting it was found impossible to ratify legally the action of the board of directors in agreeing to purchase two small branch lines, the Kensington and Eastern and Memphis and State Line railroads. The charter of the railroad requires that 632,000 shares be voted in favor of any proposition looking to the purchase of other railroads. Today only 583,046 were recorded in favor of the plan to purchase the two lines in question.

The Kensington and Eastern runs from Kensington, Md., to Hammond, Ind. The Memphis and State Line is a belt railroad around Memphis, Tenn. Both properties, it was stated by President Harriman, have been constructed with funds furnished by the Illinois Central during the administration of Mr. Fish.

The stockholders ratified the purchase of certain terminal properties in New Orleans and Memphis. The value of these was stated to be in the neighborhood of $1,000,000.

Twelve Hundred Employees Strike.
Montreal, March 3.—Twelve hundred employees of the Hochelaga and the Ste. Anne's Cotton Mills, which belong to the Dominion Textile Association, went out on strike today. The trouble was caused mainly because the employees wanted to have an assistant foreman discharged, and wanted to have the hours of labor changed.

Why Minister Lee Resigned.
Washington, March 3.—The resignation of Joseph W. Lee as minister to Guatemala for which post the president yesterday sent to the senate the nomination of William Heimke, of Kansas, was caused by continued ill health as the result of four years' service in the tropics. Mr. Lee served in Panama, Lima, Ecuador, Honduras and Guatemala.

EDITH GRUBB.

"When our children were small they were subject to croup," says Mr. J. R. Grubb, of 723 South Fourth Street, Albuquerque, N. M. "One night they were both taken at once. I ran for the doctor. They grew worse very rapidly. My wife thought they would surely die before I returned. One of them already looked like death, when she remembered that she had a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. She gave them large doses of it, and when I returned with the doctor the babies were all right, the danger was over. She told the doctor just what had been done and what she had done. He said he did not know what Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was made of, but that it had, without doubt, saved the babies' lives." Chamberlain's Cough Remedy contains no opium or other narcotic and may be given to a child with perfect confidence.

LARGE CROWDS SEE THE TRAIN

Tour of Georgia Railroad
Brought to a Close.

By LAUREN FOREMAN.

Decatur, Ga., March 3.—(Special.)—The special train of the State College of Agriculture, bearing President Andrew M. Soule, Professors Jernigan and Reade and Commissioner of Agriculture Thomas G. Hudson, arrived here this afternoon, bringing to a close the tour of the string of thriving towns along the Georgia railroad.

The day's work begun at Monroe, where a large crowd greeted the train on its arrival. There were also large crowds at Social Circle, Covington, Conyers, Stone Mountain, and here, despite the fact that Decatur and a good part of DeKalb county is really urban.

President Gus Adams, of the Fifth District Agricultural school, had his boys and girls out to see the train at Monroe. Former Governor Henry D. McDaniel and George Felker, a banker and large planter, were among those showing interest in the movement.

Mayor Thompson, of Covington, headed a large delegation from his town, who, with a representative body of Newton county farmers, evinced great interest in the train and its mission. A group of Emory college students, with Professors M. T. Pound, Harry H. Stone, and Frederick Duncan, were among the interested visitors.

At Conyers was gathered an enthusiastic crowd of Rockdale farmers, who were eager to learn just what the aims of the agricultural college. Dr. Soule expressed special pleasure at their evident desire to get everything possible out of the college and its various activities.

For the city, Mayor B. B. McDonald did the honors, while Colonel W. L. Peel introduced Dr. Soule. Colonel Peel proved that he has been following some of the advice which the experts are giving, by furnishing a sumptuous dinner, every bit of which was the product of Georgia soil. Every member of the party greatly appreciated Colonel Peel's hospitality, and gave ample proof of the fact that Georgia-raised provender can be put away in the most satisfactory manner.

Mayor J. H. Griffin met the train at Stone Mountain, and Professor W. B. Griffin, president of the University School for Boys, brought his boys to see the exhibit and hear the lectures.

Representatives Murphy Candler and Hooper Alexander were on hand when the train reached Decatur. Dr. Soule being introduced by Mr. Candler.

The committee that reported the results of their canvass, so far, astounding the general committee by the great number of manufacturers which are located in the city.

By the time the list is complete there will not be a point in the city that has not been covered in an effort to find manufacturers. D. O. Dougherty announces that he will meet his committee on wholesale manufacturers on Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

PROPHECIES FULFILLED

Cheery Interviews Secured
From Callers On Cooper.

(Special from Boston.)

The most interesting feature of the enormous sale of the Cooper preparations, now going on in this city, is what the medicines are actually accomplishing among the people of Boston.

At the commencement of his visit here Mr. Cooper prophesied that during the latter part of his stay he would receive hundreds of callers daily who came simply to thank him for what the preparations had done. He stated that that stomach trouble is the foundation for a great many diseases, and that his New Discovery, as it is called, would prove very effective in all cases of rheumatism, simply by getting the stomach in working order.

That this prophecy has been fulfilled cannot be doubted after a half-hour spent at the young man's headquarters, listening to what his callers have to say.

A reporter who watched to ascertain, if possible, some light on the reasons for the immensity of Cooper's success, interviewed about twenty of his callers yesterday afternoon. The statements made by those seen indicate that physicians who claim that Cooper is merely a passing fad, have not looked into the facts.

Some of these statements were as follows: Mr. Michael Broderick, living at 108 Clifton street, North Cambridge, Mass., was enthusiastic. He said: "I have had rheumatism and stomach trouble. The rheumatism affected my knees and feet, which at times were so painfully swollen that I could not get my weight upon them, and caused me a great deal of suffering. My stomach was all out of order. I tried both doctors and patent medicines, but neither did me any good."

I heard of Cooper and his theory on diseases, and was persuaded to try his claims. I am well satisfied with results. Cooper has been a great blessing. I tried taking several bottles of his New Discovery medicine my stomach is in first-class condition, and the rheumatism has entirely disappeared. I now eat well and experience no trouble whatever."

Another statement was made by E. B. Clark, who lives at 440 Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge, Mass. Mr. Clark said: "My wife has had sciatic rheumatism and was entirely disabled. She had in one limb that she could not be trusted alone on the street for fear of falling. It caused her great suffering, and although she has tried nearly everything, she was unable to obtain permanent relief."

"She was persuaded to try the new preparation introduced in Boston by Mr. Cooper and the first bottle gave immediate relief. In all she has taken four bottles and is now entirely well. She gives all the credit to the Cooper medicines. I certainly appreciate the benefit my wife has received from the use of these remedies, and do not hesitate to recommend them to people suffering from rheumatism."

Other statements were made by those who had previously tried the medicines seem to prove that Cooper's success throughout the country is genuine.

Industries, of which St. Elmo Massengale is chairman.

The list of committees which reported at this meeting were: On miscellaneous industries, St. Elmo Massengale, Marcus Loeb, J. G. Oglesby, Jr., G. W. Seavey, H. Kirkland, G. T. Dodd, Dr. J. M. Couch and Claude E. Buchanan; on the larger manufacturers, Oscar Pappenhelm, T. K. Glenn, Jacob R. Haas, N. P. Pratt, G. W. McCarty, Winship Nunnally and E. P. Burney; on wholesale trade, D. O. Dougherty, H. B. Wey, T. A. Gramling, Alfred Trull, H. L. Anderson, Harry Hightower and William A. Martin; on cotton trade, E. S. Hney, John E. Cay, G. A. Nicholson, C. B. Howard; on manufacturers' agents, John Hill, Arthur E. Giles, Charles P. King, Adam W. Jones and Edwin P. Morris.

About the Home Label.
The following letter was written St. Elmo Massengale by Brooks Morgan, of E. B. Block & Co., Boston:

Mr. St. Elmo Massengale, Chairman, Atlanta, Ga.—Dear Sir: Your letter of proposed campaign for the "Home Label" and feel that a well-directed effort, to improve the quality of goods made in Georgia, is a most commendable one. The importance of patronizing home industries, cannot be more than anything else to make Georgia great and wealthy.

Those not engaged in the manufacturing business in Atlanta have little idea of the small percentage of home-made food products purchased by Atlanta merchants. A careful survey of the situation will show that food products made in Chattanooga, Memphis, Richmond, New York and Chicago, although they never excel and rarely equal the quality of Atlanta-made goods, are far more extensively handled by local merchants.

This is also true to some extent of other Georgia cities and towns. The thinking public will appear to overlook the fact that if they demand Georgia-made goods, the wealth of our great state will increase immeasurably, because our own labor would be constantly employed and thousands of others would be thus attached to our prosperity.

Hundreds are idle in Georgia today that could be making good wages if Georgians would only insist on having Georgia-made goods. For every additional purchase means just that much more work for our own labor. Take our own case for instance. We could give employment to 250 more people only 10 per cent more of the Atlanta household would insist on having Atlanta-made goods in preference to goods made in St. Louis, Chicago, New York, etc.

An example of the thoughtlessness of the average purchaser came forcibly to my attention a few nights ago. I entered a store and purchased four packages of an Atlanta-made article. While I was waiting for my change a merchant entered and called for the same article made in Chicago, upon being advised that the Chicago article was not best, but that a better one was an Atlanta one, the merchant started to walk out without making a purchase. I said to this fellow, "May I ask why you do not buy 'Home Label'?" Whereupon he said, "I have been accustomed to buying the 'Foreign goods.' Further, I don't know what this fellow was out of a job and yet he had never thought of the injury he was doing himself and his fellow Georgians by purchasing goods made and packed by foreign labor. Needless to say he bought the 'Home Label' and said he had never considered the subject in its true light."

Another example. We sent one of our representatives to a certain grocer who does not handle Atlanta-made goods. He replied, "Oh, I don't carry any Atlanta goods. How many such merchants Atlanta supports, with a view to educating our buying public to demand of Atlanta-made articles, is a question which, when they are as cheap and good as foreign articles?"

We believe that if the merchants and manufacturers of Atlanta would make prominent for the next six months the watermark, "Remember the Home Label" on their letter-heads, printed matter and advertising material, a great campaign could be launched. With such an aid in view we have put the above arrangement in effect and are now placing on every package we ship, about 2,000 a day, a label, "REMEMBER THE HOME LABEL, AND THERE WILL BE AN IDEAL PERSON IN OUR CLOTHING SOUTHWARD."

Let us know what we can do to help boom such a good cause. Yours truly, BROOKS MORGAN, (P. E. Block & Co.)

TO PLEASE WIFE HE SLEW HUSBAND

Capt. Von Goeben Under Domination of Major's Wife.

(Special from Berlin.)

Major's Wife Asked Her Captain-Lover to End Her Matrimonial Torture, and He Soon Afterwards Killed Her Husband.

SLEW ON HER SUGGESTION

Major's Wife Asked Her Captain-Lover to End Her Matrimonial Torture, and He Soon Afterwards Killed Her Husband.

Berlin, March 3.—Baron Von Schrenck-Notzing, the expert alienist, who, on behalf of the court, recently spent four days with Captain Von Goeben in his cell for the purpose of forming an opinion as to the captain's mental condition, declares that the captain was not insane, but in a condition of complete infatuation with Mrs. Von Schoenbeck. Mrs. Von Schoenbeck, who was awaiting trial for the killing on December 25 of Major Von Schoenbeck, committed suicide yesterday. Continuing, the alienist says Von Goeben was so sensitive to hypnotic suggestion that he acted through suggestion, his normal mental powers being partially in suspension.

Von Goeben talked over with the alienist the circumstances which led up to the murder of Major Schoenbeck. He spoke of the exalted feeling he had for Mrs. Von Schoenbeck, and said she had related to him her sufferings at the hands of her husband. She would not permit Von Goeben to challenge her husband to a duel. Finally, on Christmas day, Von Goeben had dinner with the Major and his wife.

During the major's absence in an adjoining room Mrs. Von Schoenbeck asked Von Goeben to make oath that he would bring matters to an end, as she could endure the torture no longer. Von Goeben swore the woman asked him to join her in giving the major a chance for his life. Von Goeben entered the house by a window in the dining room, which he purposely left unfastened, and made a noise. The major appeared with a revolver in his hand. When he saw Von Goeben he exclaimed in astonishment. As soon as he caught sight of a revolver in Von Goeben's hand the major raised his own weapon to fire. Von Goeben shot first, and the major fell with a bullet hole in his forehead.

LIBERALS ARE OVERTHROWN.

After Holding Office in New Brunswick 25 Years.

Frederickton, N. B., March 3.—The liberal government of New Brunswick, which has been continued in office under one form or another for the past twenty-five years, was overthrown in the general elections held throughout the province today. The opposition ticket swept St. John city and the majority of the other constituencies. It is expected that the next premier will be J. Douglas Hazen, the leader of the opposition forces.

Hungry As a Bear

and Can't Eat

If, When Mealtime Comes, You Suffer From a Yes-Not Kind of Hunger, You're a Dyspeptic.

How to Cure All Stomach Troubles.

A good many people get mad when you tell them they've got dyspepsia, but you don't know they've got it until they tell you they can't eat. It is one kind of dyspepsia.

"I hate to think of it," is another kind. There are thousands of people today who hate their meals, and love them at the same time. They haven't that empty-hungry eat-everything-in-sight kind of feeling which goes with every good strong healthy stomach. That's because they have dyspepsia. And then they have others whose mouths don't water at meal time or at any other time. They sit at the table and go through the motions, only because it's time to eat. These people, too, are dyspeptics.

Every possible kind of stomach trouble can be cured by taking something which will just take right hold of all the food in your stomach and digest it along with the help of the stomach and let the stomach take a rest.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do this very thing. They are composed of the best digestive known to science, and are absolutely safe. One ingredient alone of one of these tablets will digest 3,000 grains of food. These tablets do exactly the work that a good strong healthy stomach does.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets cure all cases of dyspepsia, indigestion, burning or irritation, loss of appetite, bloating, belching, flatulence, gas, fermentation and gas on the stomach.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will make you feel "good" before and after each meal, and make your stomach strong and healthy again. They will make you happy.

Send us your name and address today and we will at once send you by mail a sample package free. Address F. A. Stuart, Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

GOLD MINE IN ATLANTA?

A. L. DELKIN THINKS SO

Has Been Sinking a Shaft Right in the Heart of the City and Hopes to Strike It Rich.

A gold mine, out of which vast stores of yellow treasure may yet be dug, right in the heart of Atlanta, is the latest contribution Atlanta makes to the wonders of metropolitan life. The first public information as to this possibility of wealth, such as that found in Alaskan gold fields, being hidden beneath Atlanta real estate, was brought to light yesterday afternoon in the recorder's court, in a case made against an obscure negro well digger, J. T. Cureton, for criminal trespass on the property owned jointly by the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad and A. L. Delkin, a well known citizen.

The property in question lies on West Mitchell street, and has three houses on it, known as Nos. 137, 139 and 141 West Mitchell street. The property is that of an undivided estate, of which A. L. Delkin owns, respectively, have not been road the remaining seven-twelfths by right of purchase. The specific portions of the land which the railroad and Mr. Delkin own, respectively, has not been determined, hence the intricacy of the case.

Former Mayor James G. Woodward, land agent for the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad, testified before Judge Broyles that he had discovered the latter part of last week that two negroes were deepening a well on the property, and as no one, not even Mr. Delkin, recognized as the owner of five-twelfths of the tract of land, had the right to make any changes on the land without the consent of the railroad, he warned the negroes to stop work or he would have them prosecuted for trespass.

"Today I met Mr. Delkin on the street," said Mr. Woodward, "and he told me that he would resume the work of having the well deepened; that there was a gold mine at the bottom of it, or some such stuff. Finding that Mr. Delkin had erected a tool shed on the property and that the negro continued digging the well Monday, I had a case booked against the negro for trespass."

After explaining the property rights in-

FRISCO ACCUSED OF REBATING

Road Has Been Indicted by Federal Grand Jury at St. Louis.

St. Louis, March 3.—Indictments charging the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad with granting rebates and the Chapman & Dewey Lumber Company, of Kansas City, Mo., with accepting rebates, were returned by the federal grand jury today.

There were thirteen counts in each of the indictments charging the Frisco railroad company with giving rebates to the lumber company on that many shipments, and the lumber company with accepting rebates. The various counts are based on shipments of lumber alleged to have been made by the Frisco for the lumber company in April, May, June and July, 1908, from points in Arkansas to St. Louis.

Dutro for Memphis Postmaster.
Washington, D. C., March 3.—The president today nominated Leander W. Dutro to be postmaster at Memphis, Tenn.

Involved and after stating that some years ago in having the well cleaned out he had discovered a liberal supply of gold in the mud taken from it, Mr. Delkin, who for the past three years has been a successful gold prospector and practical miner in the rich gold fields near Nome, Alaska, made substantially the following statement to the recorder:

Mr. Delkin's Statement.
"Three months ago I returned to Atlanta and determined to prospect in the bottom of that well in which I had found gold several years ago. Upon my return I discovered that the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad had carried out an alleged condemnation proceeding to obtain my five-twelfths interest in the property, but upon going to the courthouse and asking Arnold Broyles if there was any real money there for me I found that the railroad had not complied with the law by depositing the money for the amount of the award, and that the proceedings therefore amounted to nothing.

"I had no money to begin digging in the well last week and notified Mr. Woodward Sunday that I would continue it, and if gold were discovered the railroad would, of course, be entitled to seven-twelfths of it after paying the same proportionate amount of the expense connected with the mining of it. This case is the result of my ultimatum to him.

"The gold laws of the United States are very liberal to the miner, and under all the circumstances of the case I have every right to proceed with the mining of that well. There may be nothing in it, but no one knows that until I have prospected the well to see what it may turn out."

"This case," said Judge Broyles, "is not one of criminal trespass. If Mr. Woodward wishes to prevent Mr. Delkin from further prospecting in this gold mine, his remedy lies in a court of equity where an injunction may be applied for to restrain Mr. Delkin from digging up more gold."

9-HOUR LAW GOES ON RAILROADS

Federal Statute as to Hours of Labor Effective Today.

ALL THE ROADS WILL OBEY

Southern and Other Systems Announce That They Have Made Arrangements to Put Their Employees on Shorter Hours.

Washington, March 3.—All arrangements have been made by the Southern Railway Company for a compliance with the provisions of the federal nine-hour law relative to operators and dispatchers in the railroad service and the sixteen-hour law for trainmen, which will become effective tomorrow. Between 100 and 150 additional operators will be required, and about one-third that number are needed on the Reading.

Pennsylvania Roads to Obey.
Philadelphia, March 3.—Both the Pennsylvania and the Reading railroads have made provisions for meeting the federal nine-hour law for operators and dispatchers in the railroad service, which goes into effect tomorrow. On the former 700 additional operators will be required and about one-third that number are needed on the Reading.

The Pennsylvania company will rely to a certain extent on its telephone service.

The company has been taking men on since October and while many operators are to be had, most of its new men, it is said, were trained in the school opened in September at Bedford, Pa. Young men are instructed in the duties of a station agent as well as dispatcher. The Pennsylvania employs about 3,000 operators throughout its system.

Norfolk and Western to Obey.
Roanoke, Va., March 3.—The Norfolk and Western Railway Company today announced that the nine-hour law for telegraphers will be obeyed on that system and will go into effect tomorrow.

THE WEALTH OF THE SOUTH.
Among the wonderful stories of industrial progress in the South none is more amazing than that of the growth of the Cotton Seed Oil industry. Years ago, after the cotton was ginned, the seed was thrown away as worthless. In fact it was regarded as a nuisance. Today cotton seed contributes millions of dollars annually to the wealth of the South. Improved processes of crushing the seed and refining the oil have resulted in a product equal to the finest olive oil in nutritive value. From it is produced a cooking fat which is rapidly replacing lard. This cooking fat (called COTTOLENE) is claimed by physiologists to be purer, and much more wholesome than lard, and is more economical, too. As this fact becomes generally recognized, the use of Cotton Seed Oil in the form of COTTOLENE will be practically unlimited. COTTOLENE is destined to become the national national shortening.

COMM'R POUND GETS LOVING CUP

State School Commissioner Is Handsomely Remembered by Former Students.

State School Commissioner Jere M. Pound was the recipient yesterday of a handsome and highly prized gift, a beautiful silver loving cup on ebony stand, from some of the alumni of Gordon Institute, Barnesville, over whose educational work he used to preside.

When Professor Pound was appointed state school commissioner, John Clifton Elder, of New York, a graduate of Gordon Institute, conceived the idea of a little token of recognition to Professor Pound, expressive both of personal appreciation and of gratification over the important position to which he had attained. He wrote to a number of alumni of Gordon Institute, and a fund for the purpose was raised, which was invested in the attractive and highly prized loving cup which Professor Pound received yesterday from New York. It was inscribed "Jere Madison Pound, from Gordon Friends, 1908," and a splendid letter from Mr. Elder accompanied it.

An incident of the matter which Mr. Elder mentions was that he deposited the fund, as they were received in his bank in New York, which was one of those that went under as a result of the October panic. He has not yet been able to get his money or any of it out of the defunct bank, but would delay no longer in sending to Professor Pound this token of esteem from his Gordon friends.

GOOD ROADS FOR STEPHENS.

Business Men of Toconca Take Matter in Hand.
Toconca, Ga., March 3.—(Special.)—The business men of Toconca have determined that good roads shall be had in Stephens county, and last night, at a largely attended meeting, at which enthusiastic speeches were made, a committee, consisting of Dr. Jeff Davis, C. H. Dance and W. M. Kilgo, was appointed and authorized to employ a competent engineer to make surveys of every public road leading out from Toconca.

This will be the preliminary work only. If the county does not pay for the survey, then the business men have pledged themselves to do so. Just as soon as the survey is completed plan will have been arranged to begin the work of grading and changing the roads wherever necessary.

JAPAN KIND TO UTAH.

Mikado's Government Convicts Criminals for American State.
Salt Lake City, Utah, March 3.—Because Utah did not have the money to bring back two embassiers from Japan the mikado's government not only tried and convicted the offenders for a crime committed in this state, but has paid Utah for collecting and forwarding affidavits in the case.

The culprits fled from Brigham City, Utah, more than a year ago with more than $18,000 collected for safekeeping by seventy-five Japanese laborers employed in the beet fields. The men were traced to Japan and their arrested.

TO TRY JUDGE BLACKSTONE.

House Sets March 25 as Date of Trial.

Richmond, Va., March 3.—The Virginia legislature today accepted the report of the Blackstone committee. The house of delegates adopted a resolution setting the trial for March 25 so that Judge Blackstone can be given twenty days' legal notice. The house also passed a resolution extending the session for thirty days to consider the Blackstone case. The senate has not yet concurred in the resolution.

Judge Blackstone will be tried on two specific charges, one of immorality and one of neglect of official duty.

Bryan Returns Home.

Lincoln, Neb., March 3.—William J. Bryan arrived here today and with the exception of a trip to Omaha to attend the democratic convention March 8, he will remain at Fairview until March 16. Mr. Bryan has been suffering from a severe cold. He declared he was much better and spent the day in answering his personal letters.

WANTED ON MURDER CHARGE.

Keekler Was Working as a Street Car Motorman.

Tampa, Fla., March 3.—Working quietly as a street car motorman, Hawes Keekler, member of the Hill family gang of the Tennessee mountains, was arrested here today upon identification of Police Caldwell of Bristol, Tenn.

Keekler has a charge of murder pending against him at Bristol, and escaped from jail at Marion, N. C., several months ago, by knocking down a guard, after the judge sentenced him to ten years for highway robbery. Keekler admits his identity.

Continues to Lay Off Men.

Winston-Salem, N. C., March 3.—The Southern railway continues to lay off men on the Winston-Salem division. The station master and six clerks go off here Thursday, besides several others here and at points on the division.

ATLANTA, GA., March 4, 1908.

There is no demand for a campaign barrel that doesn't leak.

Harriman drank the president's health, but it wasn't a very highball.

Hearst is now running a "Guess-Who" political column on the side.

With the "reds" raging after them, the Chicago police need a strong body guard.

No wonder they call Taft Man-Afraid-of-His-Shadow. It runs ahead of him.

Of course the "Roosevelt republicans" come under the head of "my people."

The republican party's interest in deep waterways doesn't extend to Salt River.

They compromised on the Taft tution. Souvenir Taft bellybands were misfits.

Missouri wolves are hungry and are biting people. They are also of the Wall Street variety.

A republican organ in Ohio talks of "conscience in the campaign." Well, it is always hard hit.

Time for Spring to tie her backhair in a rainbow knot and dance to the music of a lawnmower.

The people don't care about the Indian tomahawk in the senate; it's the tommyrot that hurts.

Jeff Davis is going to speak all over Arkansas, but the state is still determined to pull through.

Big racket about a defective navy, but it is only admitted that the Pacific fleet is on its "last leg."

The Missouri men who found an umbrella and advertised for the owner has no presidential aspirations.

An exchange says Minister Wu "talks just like an American." Didn't know they had administered the oath to him.

With what admirable ease Secretary Cortelyou "calls in" millions, and the dollars come at his call, and no foolishness.

The New York Mail says "Spring is in the hands of a receiver." That's because mild-mannered March can't raise the dust.

It will be cold consolation to some of the now confident national campaigners that "crow" is not confined to the roosters.

No wonder the republicans are seeing ghosts in the south. The noise made by a wrangling handful of them is enough to raise the dead.

The presidential chair which has been widened for Taft will not be a dead loss. There is a national museum for just such curiosities.

A college professor has discovered a resemblance between Mr. Roosevelt and Henry Clay. It seems that Mr. Clay once called an eminent man a liar.

The Times-Union says the president pressed the electric button that started the Florida republican convention. But they soon discovered that there was a but off somewhere.

The Baltimore American thinks that "it would be wrong to change Cannon." But Uncle Joe will tell you that he is competent to direct both the white and the rough house.

A MANIFEST INJUSTICE TO THE SOUTH.

Whatever may be the object underlying official investigation into alleged peonage in the south, the motive at the bottom of it is anything but creditable to those responsible for it.

This persistent investigation, coupled with ungrounded prosecutions and prejudicial, distorted and vindictive reports, can no longer wear the mask of justice; it is too clearly a manifest effort to reflect upon a vast section of the country; to discredit it industrially and otherwise.

The department of justice might with better reason and grace lend its efforts to the actual prosecution of some of those offenders "higher up," whose existence the administration has so positively asserted, than to persistently continue in the persecution of a section whose only offense is that its prosperity and progress have aroused the jealousies and hatred of a few to whom envy is second nature.

There have been found but a few isolated cases to which, even for purposes of court investigation, the peonage laws could be made to apply, and then only by submitting them to a process calculated to develop their elasticity to a point where they could be made to serve as a means to the end sought. Still, a little truth and much falsehood has been sufficient to delight the souls of those whose principal aim seems to be to keep alive the fires of sectional antagonism.

Why doesn't the department of justice go into the slums and the sweatshops of New York, the coal fields of Pennsylvania or the western labor camps where the "padrone" system is said to flourish in all its iniquitous perfection? Is it because it is afraid it will stir up a rumormongering in some of the republican strongholds?

It may be said without fear of contradiction that a month's investigation at these points would develop more numerous and more flagrant cases of injustice to individuals than the department has been able to rake out of all the south, with its fine-tooth comb methods, in the year or more it has been at the business.

The accumulated and persistent injustice in this attack upon the south naturally aroused the ire of those members of congress whose states came in for special exhortation in the Russell and Quackenbush reports; and when they called for a congressional investigation of conditions in the lumber, turpentine and other industrial camps of the south, they did not hesitate to characterize these pernicious activities in plain and unmistakable terms.

There should be, and there will be, no difficulty in getting at the truth of the matter, and there is no question that investigation will develop the fact that the department of justice has gotten hold of just such a mare's nest as Senator Forsaker found in his Brownsville investigation.

If President Roosevelt will take hold of the situation, there is no question that he can put the south right with a few strokes of his virile pen.

The president will doubtless become aware of the manifest injustice that has been done the south, and his clear and intense sense of justice and vigorous methods of dealing with apparent oppression should prompt him to right this grave wrong.

While the president is, of course, a very busy man, he has never yet been too much occupied to get right in behind injustice of this sort and apply the remedy.

Why may we not look to the president in this instance to set matters right?

THE ATLANTA BUILDERS' EXCHANGE.

Today at 1 o'clock the contractors and builders of Atlanta, the men who have constructed and are now constructing every class of buildings in the city, will assemble at the chamber of commerce to organize an association which shall be known as "The Atlanta Builders' Exchange."

In so doing they are reviving and greatly amplifying a similar organization which existed here some years ago, and they are merely following the footsteps of their fellow craftsmen in every city of any importance in the country.

The basis upon which the exchange will be founded and conducted is at present only tentative. The underlying idea will, however, be the conservation of the mutual interests of builders, contractors, architects, labor, patrons, building material men and all other of those pertaining to the business of construction.

The movement is a splendid indication that the profession of building in Atlanta has reached that prosperous and far-reaching stage where the interests of all involved render such an organization profitable, expedient and essential.

The project is self-evidently a commendable one and should enlist the cooperation of all the factors concerned.

Legislation in England.

The British parliament is confronted by two momentous pieces of legislation which, while directly affecting only the population of the island kingdom, are not devoid of widespread international interest, because they are subjects now being dealt with by other nations.

Discussion alone of the liquor licensing bill, which, it is said, is in no immediate danger of becoming the law of the land, furnishes a striking instance of the overwhelming force of agitation, since the simple introduction of the measure caused an immediate shrinkage of more than $100,000,000 in the value of English brewery securities.

English working people are aroused as they have not been in years over what they consider the prospect of losing their beer and their ale. The licensing bill proposes to shut up 32,000 of the 100,000 saloons in the British Isles within fourteen years, and to pay the proprietors for the loss of their business by additional taxes upon those remaining. The movement is met by a threat to put up the price of beer, which, it is said, the British workman would resent more strenuously than the unionist proposal to increase the price of bread by putting a tariff on flour.

Another phase of the question is the added evidence of the spread of the temperance movement, which is, no doubt, destined to cut a still more decided figure in future English elections.

The other measure of absorbing interest, the woman's suffrage bill, stands in a different class, since the government disclaims all responsibility for it, and has refused to make it a part of its program. The liquor bill, on the other hand, is distinctive of a government measure.

The demonstrations of the "suffragettes," including even an attack upon parliament itself, are still fresh in mind. It is somewhat remarkable that they managed to secure numerous individual pledges in behalf of the movement in the house of commons, and yet even that success is an empty one when viewed in the light of government opposition, for the government is the "Speaker Cannon" of the British legislative body. Then there is still the house of lords, in which the woman suffrage movement would find a practically impassable barrier, should it ever get there.

It is said inquiry and investigation have shown that the majority of the women of England are unalterably opposed to the extension to them of the ballot, and from all accounts, they do not appear to be in any present danger of having it forced upon them.

At all events it would appear that England is in for a season of agitation.

CHEROKEE PRESBYTERY

Will Hold Session at Rome on April 21.

Rome, Ga., March 3.—(Special.)—Cherokee Presbytery of the Presbyterian church will meet in Rome in April at the First Presbyterian church. There are thirty-five churches in this district.

Judge Milner, of Cartersville, is moderator of the presbytery; at this time and will appoint some leading minister to deliver the opening sermon. The presbytery will meet April 21 and will be in session for three days. Dr. G. C. Snyder, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, looks for a full attendance.

"Just From Georgia"

The Sweetheart Summer.

I.

Some cheer the weather's bringing—Of violets a score:
I hear the Summer singing:
"I'm your sweetheart once more!"

II.

The roses that she gave me—
I treasured them, you know;
But I can't tell to save me,
Just why I loved them so!

III.

For Summer—when I name her,
She wakes a thrill and sigh;
So many sweethearts claim her,
And all her roses die!

IV.

So like—but I am dreaming
Of joys not meant for me:
Life's lonesome snows are gleaming
Where Summer used to be!

Fire Here and There.

A correspondent of The Whitsett Courier has this story of a red-hot stove:

"While the preacher was holding forth it was noticed that the stove got red-hot—up to ten feet of pipe. He stopped in the middle of his sermon and said: 'Open the door, Brother Ben, and let the earthly fire cool down. But at the place where you sinners are going,' he continued, addressing the congregation, 'there'll be no one to open the door and let the furnace cool. There's a fire department there, but no one to turn on the hose!'"

The Calamity Man.

The hurricane's scuttin' in!
With its amazing strength;
I wish 'twould split the forest
Into wood—stove-length!"

The airthquake is a-comin'.
An' a tree is no protector;
Perhaps 'twill swallow all the land
Before the tax collector!"

The fruit trap will be frozen—
That ain't a bit o' doubt.
An' not a drop o' "lightnin'"
To thaw the country out!"

The Hard-of-Hearing Man.

The Missouri Chronicle tells this one: "A certain citizen promised to contribute two dollars toward the preacher's salary as soon as he sold his calf, but failed to keep his word. He went to church a few nights later and the choir sang the beautiful song, 'The Half Has Never Yet Been Told.' He was a little hard of hearing and went home boiling with rage. He told his wife the choir had insulted him by singing 'The Half Has Never Yet Been Told.'"

The Difference.

"The trouble with my old man," said the old woman, "is that he carries a jug with him when he goes fishin' as a remedy for snakebite; then, when he comes home, he has to call in the doctor to prescribe a remedy for the jug. Now, of a dog gets snakebit once, he don't go whar snakes is any more. That's different from a Man. But some dogs air gifted with considerable sense!"

When Joy Came Round.

He cried so loud, good people—
Of Trouble takin' stock;
That when Joy asked to enter
He didn't hear him knock.

From house to house Joy wandered—
"Now, wasn't it a sin?
But all were trouble-busy,
An' didn't let him in."

Then Joy left in a hurry,
An' danced along the ways,
But they got him on the highroad
An' give him thirty days!

His Sudden Change.

"I wuz preachin' a sermon on de hardness er a rich man gwine through a needie's eye on a camel," said Brother Dickey, "an' I reckon I said mo'n usual 'bout de rich, w'en lo! an' behol', a rich man who wuz list'nin' at me, put his han' in his pocket an' gimme a $10 bill! I tell you, w'en you come ter think er it, dar's wuz folks thar rich mens in dis worl'-dat's what dey is!"

Tom's Holiday.

Won't see Tom now till vacation—
He's gone off to school;
Summer time he'll shock creation
Swearin' at the mule.

To that critter he'll be handin'
Words to make you weak!
(Folks ain't got no understanding Cussin' mules in Greek!)

"Georgia will soon blossom like the Garden of Eden," says The Whitsett Courier, "but we put our friends on notice that there is no remedy for snakebite down here!"

In the Chimney Corner.

"The chimney corner fer me," said the old man, "with my pipe an' tobacco, an' my jug an' my sugar, an' my big tumbler! That's all I want to satisfy me now."

"You couldn't get much more, ef you wanted to, grandfather, 'less you got wings to fly to glory with."

The old man looked at the driving sleet outside. "This sorter weather," he said, "ain't seasonable fer flyin'!"

Word From Br'er Williams.

"Poverty," says Brother Williams, "ain't no crime at all. Hit's des a powerful inconvenience w'en de money rent is due an' you can't raise de money ter pay it wid. Hit's true dat de po' man got treasure in heaven, but I'm a-sayin' ter you right now: Hit's mighty fur off!"

Georgia Spring Jingle.

I.
He wants a rose fer his sweetheart true:
(Thaw him out de blizzard!)
Her smile is bright as de mornin' light:
(Thaw him out de blizzard!)

II.

His love is true as de Violets blue:
(Thaw him out de blizzard!)
Here's a big snow-shovel that wuz
(Thaw him out de blizzard!)

The True Truth.

Spring would make her roses dance
With the drippin' dew.
But Winter won't give Spring a chance
To hand a rose to you!

IN THE COURTS

Mrs. Lella Wardlaw, who Monday pleaded guilty to the charge of running a house of ill fame on East Hunter street, was sentenced to a fine of $400 and twelve months' imprisonment by Judge Calhoun yesterday. The court ordered a suspension of the imprisonment in the event Mrs. Wardlaw mended her ways and gave the authorities no more trouble.

The grand jury at a short session yesterday returned seven true and one no bill, none of which was of any importance. Another meeting was set for Tuesday.

Judge Pendleton yesterday signed an order authorizing the Central Bank and Trust Corporation to sell one vacant lot on St. Charles avenue to A. A. Jobson for $750, two lots in College Park to B. D. Gray for $5,200 and one vacant lot of the Todd property to J. D. Way for $1,600. This realty was the property of the Neal bank and the proceeds go toward the settlement of the debt.

Georgia Laws, 1907.

Editor Constitution: From the enclosed recent enacted law it appears that only male persons from 21 to 50 years of age in Georgia are subject to military service. This is the correct interpretation and meaning of the law. It would be well that officials of the state whose duty it is to collect these taxes know from whom to collect. It has been the barbarous custom in the past to levy 10-year-old children on the public roads. Now if this law really means to do duty, it needs to be given the widest publicity and fully understood.

Following is the law:

Georgia Laws, 1907, section 171, section 172. "That each male citizen of said county between the ages of 21 AND 50 YEARS, who is not physically or mentally disabled, shall be subject to road duties for four days for eight full hours in each day each year, and no more; provided any such person may be exempt from road duty by paying to the overseer the sum of $3. or such amount as the local authorities may fix as equivalent to four days' labor at the time notice is given to work on said road and such person shall be liable to pay the said commutation tax, and shall apply the same to the use of the road where the person was wanted to work."

What about this?

Conyers, Ga., March 3, 1908.

S. C. A. STATE PRESIDENT

CLARK OF MISSISSIPPI

Tells Why He Advised Association to Retire from the Field.

Clarksville, Miss., March 2, 1908. Some of our newspapers, in reporting the recent convention of the Southern Cotton Association, came out in glaring headlines that I had "started the ball that came near rolling the association into disorganization." The Associated Press report of this meeting, which was in the main correct, did not justify any such headlines. It was quite true that I was declining to accept the nomination for president. I suggested that in view of the direct opposition to the association from many directly interested sources, and especially the Farmers' Union in some of the states, and the failure to support the association financially, it was in my opinion the best for all of us that we temporarily retire from the field.

This advice was unanimously rejected, and I was soundly abused by some of those present for making any such suggestion. It was pointed out that hundreds of our most loyal supporters had not sold a single bale of their cotton, and it was urged that I stand by these men to the last ditch. This, after a thorough discussion, we unanimously decided to do, and we all parted with the determination to put forth our best efforts for success.

I have always opposed the fixing of any minimum price above the 10-cent "deadline," and the 18-cent minimum fixed was a most grievous mistake, and has worked a great hardship on a great number of people. It has, however, undoubtedly helped a great many people who were least deserving, to escape the ruin which would otherwise have been able to obtain.

The price of cotton will very shortly be governed by the acreage and the yield, and if the acreage is not materially reduced from last year, a slump is inevitable, and if we grow a 12,000,000-bale crop this year I predict a decline of 100-150 cents in the price of cotton. It is a great mistake to grow a 14,000,000-bale crop, and to grow a 16,000,000-bale crop is a mistake of 1904-05.

With the army of the unemployed growing daily and the cotton-producing production and consumption will be materially decreased, and it is to be hoped that the farmers will take a sane view of the situation, and at least grow their own food crops.

I have repeatedly pointed out to the people of Mississippi the danger of food crops at least outside of the proceeds of the cotton crop, and has worked a great hardship on a great number of people. It has, however, undoubtedly helped a great many people who were least deserving, to escape the ruin which would otherwise have been able to obtain.

COUNCIL PAYS HIGH HONOR TO THREE BOARD MEMBERS

Harwell, Dorsey and Harding Are Unanimously Re-elected.

It was a signal honor council conferred on three of Atlanta's well known citizens Monday, when the three members of the hospital board, whose terms had expired, were all re-elected unanimously and without the semblance of opposition.

It was not only a signal honor, but an occasion rare and worthy of remembering. It is not often that there is not a scramble when council has any honors to confer, and it is very, very seldom that there is not opposition of some sort.

The three members of the hospital board upon whom the honor of being elected without any opposition was bestowed were: John H. Harwell, Hugh M. Dorsey, and Wade P. Harding, a merchant, a lawyer, and a printer.

John Harwell is the representative of the first ward in the hospital board. He has represented the first in many other capacities. For four years he represented the first in council, and for three years he represented the first on the aldermanic board. He was mayor pro tem. during Mayor Woodward's last administration. He served one year on the water board. He retired from politics—he was not re-elected.

Hugh M. Dorsey is one of Atlanta's brightest and most popular young attorneys, and is a member of one of Georgia's largest legal firms, Dorsey, Brewster & Howell. He is at present a member of the hospital board and the water board—secretary of the former and vice president of the latter. He has already served several years on both. Wade P. Harding is a printer by trade. He is one of the leading men in the composing room of Uncle Remus's Magazine, and the splendid typographical appearance of this splendid magazine is due largely to his effort and skill. He is prominent in labor circles, and is a member of the Atlanta Typographical Union. Few young men in Atlanta can boast of as many friends.

RIFLE RANGE FOR OFFICERS

Chief Jennings Considering Proposition for Establishment of Range.

At the suggestion of Major J. Van Holt Nash, inspector general of small arms practice of the national guard of Georgia, Chief Henry Jennings, of the Atlanta police department, has taken under consideration the matter of the establishment of a range for pistol and rifle practice by members of the city police force.

The matter was, to some extent, suggested by the murder a short time ago of Policeman Manley by a negro. Major Nash called attention to the necessity of members of the police force being proficient in the use of the revolver, "so that when occasion demands, they can hit what they shoot at, thereby reducing to a minimum the danger to some innocent bystander from a stray or poorly directed shot."

Major Nash has offered his services to the police department in the matter of the establishment of a range where constant and instructive practice can be indulged in by the members of the force. It is not unlikely that Chief Jennings and the police commission will give serious thought to the matter, as the necessary arrangements for this sort of practice can be made at very small expense.

Cleveland, Ohio, recently established a range for its police at a cost of $500, to be devoted exclusively to revolver practice. Washington, D. C., has many fine shots on its police force, who not only practice on the official range, but find opportunities to practice in their own time by belonging to rifle and pistol clubs. A number of other cities have taken similar steps for the instruction of their police officers.

Membership Is Already on the Climb as a Result.

The board of directors of the Young Men's Christian Association has gone to work with characteristic energy to build up the membership of the association. They believe that the association ought to have two or three times the number of members at present on the rolls.

With this end in view, and in order to bring about quick results, they have reduced the price of annual membership tickets from $15 to $12, in quarterly payments, or $10 cash. This ticket will admit a member to all the privileges of the association, including the gymnasium, swimming pool, reading and game rooms.

Ten dollars was the price of the annual tickets formerly, and the membership under that schedule was pushing at over one thousand. There is little doubt but the reduction to the old price will result in bringing back to the association large numbers of young men who dropped out when the price was raised. Already the membership is beginning to climb.

Under the vigorous management of the new board, the association is beginning to take on new life, and to show something of its old-time vigor and popularity. And there is every indication that the growth will be permanent. The new rate is proving very attractive to the young men, who, after a day's toil, need just the relaxation that the association affords.

F. O. B. RAILROAD PERMITTED TO RESUME SCHEDULES

Commission Modifies Order Prohibiting It from Running Trains More than 10 Miles an Hour.

The railroad commission yesterday issued an order modifying its recent order prohibiting the Fitzgerald, Ocilla and Broxton railroad from running its trains at a speed greater than 10 miles an hour until the track is put in repair.

The order was issued upon showing made by President and General Manager H. C. McFadden to the effect that the railroad company does not operate its trains at "a continuous speed of given measure, but that the speed of its trains is adjusted to the condition of the track, and that over portions of the track which are bad its trains are required to slow to such speed as will render travel over same safe."

Therefore the commission orders that the Fitzgerald, Ocilla and Broxton railroad shall be permitted to continue its passenger schedules at the same old rates at which it used to run them.

The Builders' Exchange of Atlanta is the name of the new organization which is to be formed today at 10 o'clock by the ninety-one builders of the city, who will meet for the purpose in the Atlanta chamber of commerce.

It is the purpose of this exchange to be second to the Atlanta chamber of commerce, and to join interests with it in all matters of building in the city.

For the purpose of perfecting the organization George B. McMillan, of the Builders' Exchange of Cleveland, has come to Atlanta, and will address the builders on the purposes and principals of the proposed organization.

It is declared to be the purpose of the members of this exchange to advance and promote the general interest of Atlanta through its builders; to acquire, disseminate, valuable information, and to avoid and adjust all differences in the building line, wherever practicable.

The membership is to be confined to three classes, corporate, non-corporate, and associate.

As outlined by Mr. McMillan, the purposes of the exchange are summarized as follows:

1. The revision of laws to improve the general construction work under better laws and strict inspection.

2. The encouragement of apprenticeship for American boys, as over 65 per cent of the employees of building firms are either of foreign birth or have received their technical training in countries other than the United States.

3. The establishment of trade schools which will furnish a technical as well as practical training.

4. The revision of the present mechanics' and material men's lien law, so as to protect property owners and builders' interests from dishonest contractors and unscrupulous supply dealers.

5. To cooperate with local authorities to improve Atlanta's streets, parks and public buildings.

6. Methods for the general beautifying of Atlanta so as to make all improvements more permanent and of a better quality.

The organization of the association, so the promoters claim, will not only affect individual construction, but will be for the purpose of civic improvement along all lines.

CHAMBER MEETS THIS AFTERNOON

The Million Dollar Bond Issue Will Be Discussed.

This afternoon at 4 o'clock the directors of the Atlanta chamber of commerce will take up the question of the proposed bond issue by Atlanta of $1,000,000, and it is generally believed that this body will give the project its enthusiastic endorsement, and suggest that it be made, at once, and handled through a bond commission.

Vice President F. J. Paxton, of the chamber of commerce, has prepared and will introduce a resolution endorsing the proposed issue as outlined by the Schlesinger suggestion, and which will call for the appointment of a committee to propose a bond commission, through which the bond issue can be successfully floated.

President Candler, of this body, has given the bond issue its most enthusiastic endorsement, and declares that if it is authorized through a bond commission "that it will be floated easily, and at a premium."

A majority of the directors interviewed on the subject are in favor of the issue, as planned, and the action of the directors on the subject will give the movement great impetus.

In addition to the bond issue the question of the "Consumers' League," and the "made in Atlanta" crusade will also come up for approval and endorsement by this body.

Another important matter to be presented will be the report of the civic improvement committee, of which R. L. Foreman is chairman. The committee proposes to work in harmony with the architects and engineers of the city and improve some of the unsightly places about Atlanta.

HUSBAND MUST ANSWER CHARGE OF ABANDONMENT

S. F. Daniels Bound Over—Did Not Pay Board of Wife and Baby.

S. F. Daniels has been bound over under $200 bond by Justice of the Peace Dodgen on the charge of abandoning his young wife and child.

According to the evidence, Daniels placed his wife and the 6-months-old infant in a boarding house on Marietta street, promising to pay the landlady the bill, which amounted to about $36.

It is understood that Mrs. Daniels is a young woman of about 18 years, and that the child was by her first husband. That being the case, under the law, if her husband was in possession of the facts when he married her, he is responsible for both wife and child. Justice Dodgen states that it is an extremely pathetic case of a woman, nothing but a girl, being alone in the city, with no one to support her.

DR. HAWTHORNE WILL PREACH

Distinguished Divine to Deliver Sermon at the First Baptist Church Sunday.

Dr. J. B. Hawthorne, of Richmond, Va., who is in the city for a few days, has consented to deliver his sermon at the First Baptist church on Sunday.

Two years ago Dr. Hawthorne delivered his sermon at the Second Baptist church. It was pronounced a masterly sermon, and is remembered with pleasure by hundreds of Atlantans. It will be repeated in deference to the requests of a large number of prominent Atlantans, some of whom heard the first sermon and wish to hear it again, and others who did not have that pleasure.

Dr. Hawthorne will receive a warm welcome at the First Baptist church, of which he was pastor for a long number of years.

MURDER CHARGE AGAINST WHITE

Troup County Man in Jail Charged With Killing Brother-in-Law.

LaGrange, Ga., March 3.—(Special).—Sheriff Florence, who was called to Mountville, where W. A. Allison was shot Saturday night, placed Allison's brother-in-law, Jesse White, under arrest, charged with the crime. A negro laborer on Allison's plantation, who was near the scene of the shooting, stated that White did the shooting, and a shotgun found near the dying man was identified by White's son. Allison also made a dying statement that White did the shooting.

It is charged that Allison was shot in the back with the shotgun, and while the negro, who was near, had gone for help the man who fired the shot returned to the wounded man and shot Allison twice with a pistol, once in the shoulder and once between the eyes.

The trial of Jesse White, on the charge of killing W. A. Allison, was held at Mountville Monday, before Judge Young. Two neighbors, J. R. Caudle and W. H. Hancock, heard the statement of the dying man, H. J. Hightower testified that threats had been made by White against the dead man.

White's defense was an alibi. Two daughters and his son swore that he was at home Saturday.

The jury's verdict was that Allison came to his death at the hands of White. White is now in the Troup county jail.

Charged with Sending Letter.

Nashville, Tenn., March 3.—At Hopkinsville, Ky., this morning the grand jury returned an indictment against Robert Wood, a young farmer, on the charge of sending a threatening letter signed "Night Rider." Wood is held under bond for trial on March 25.

JUDGE ORDERS HOTEL CLOSED

Aftermath of Raid on Union Hotel Made an Interesting Scene.

The aftermath of the raid by the police of the city, under the supervision of Rev. E. H. Peacock, on the Union hotel, 221-2 West Mitchell street, came in the recorder's court room yesterday morning when Judge Broyles ordered the proprietor to close up the hotel, bound him over to the state courts under $500 bond, and four women and one man found in the place were given heavy fines.

Judge Broyles made one exception to the rule of placing fines, this case being that of another man found in the hotel, F. C. Clanton. Owing to the nature of the evidence against him, his wife being one of the witnesses, Clanton was severely reprimanded and was sentenced to thirty days in the stockade without the privilege of paying a fine.

Woman Accused of Throwing Dynamite.

Oakland, Cal., March 3.—Mrs. Isabella J. Martin was indicted yesterday by the grand jury on a charge of having dynamited the residence of Superior Judge Frank S. O'Connell, 1907. Bail was fixed at $50,000. Mrs. Martin is in jail.

HOT BATTLE FOR SUPREMACY IN CARTERSVILLE CHURCH

Cartersville, Ga., March 3.—(Special).—"Sometimes the best way to have a revival in a church is to turn out about one-fifth or one-third of its members, for God Himself could have no peace even in heaven until He had turned the devil and his angels into outer darkness."

This utterance of the Rev. John E. Barnard, pastor of the First Baptist church, of this city, came as one of the most sensational features of the spectacular battle for supremacy that has been waged for several months between some of its prominent members and the pastor. The statement was made in his regular Sunday morning sermon to his congregation.

It will be recalled that some time ago several members of the board of deacons waited upon the pastor and asked for his resignation. For several weeks nothing has been said by either side, until last Sunday, when Dr. Barnard preached a red-hot sermon upon the subject of dissensions and strife in the church. He said then that a thief, an adulterer and a liar were as good as those who would stir up strife and discord in the church.

The sermon of the minister was an appeal to the members to withdraw fellowship from certain other members who have, it is alleged, been causing strife. The opposition to Mr. Barnard is composed of some of the most prominent citizens in this city, and as a church conference is announced for Wednesday night, sensational developments are looked for.

A few weeks ago Mr. Barnard announced to his church that his resignation was ready when all the members of the church were peaceful and a spirit of brotherly love prevailed. His resignation has not yet been accepted. After being called upon by several of his official board, who asked for his resignation some months ago, Mr. Barnard said in his sermon the following Sunday: "It is easier for you dissatisfied members to move your letter than it is for the pastor to move his family."

KILLED BY A LIVE WIRE.

Young Lineman from Pennsylvania Killed Near Conyers.

Conyers, Ga., March 3.—(Special).—While working on a telephone pole near Conyers, a crossing, about two miles west of this place, this morning, Howard Naugle, of Burnt Cabins, Pa., was struck by a live wire and killed instantly.

With a gang of workmen, he had been on the line since the freeze a few weeks ago. He was a quiet, gentlemanly fellow, 24 years old, and single. His remains will be prepared for shipment and the company will send the body home.

Loss of Appetite
Is loss of vitality, vigor or tone, and is often a precursor of prostrating sickness.

This is why it is serious and most serious to people that must keep up and doing or get behindhand. The best thing you can do for loss of appetite is to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills—they will make you ready to eat, give a relish to your food, and assist in its digestion, and their effects will be permanent.

This statement is confirmed by the largest volume of voluntary testimony in the world. Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills cure indigestion, dyspepsia, all stomach troubles, and build up the whole system.

MISS MARY THOMAS.

Who Was One of the Belles of the New Orleans Mardi Gras.

Atlanta Belles at Mardi Gras.

New Orleans, March 3.—(Special.)—Two of the most admired of the southern belles participating in the Mardi Gras festivities have been Misses Laura Payne and Miss Mary Thomas, of Atlanta. Miss Payne has been entertained by her cousin, Miss Penrose, and arrived in time to attend many of the brilliant functions preceding Mardi Gras. She was one of the most favored of the belles at the carnival cotillion Friday night, and was exquisitely gowned in white chiffon and lace, made empire fashion.

Miss Payne is of blonde type and inherits the beauty and grace of her mother, who as Miss Helen Hill was one of the belles of Georgia, while her father, J. Carroll Payne, one of the most successful lawyers of that state, was for a number of years one of the most prominent of the younger members of the bar in New Orleans.

The striking brunette beauty of Miss Mary Thomas has made her the center of admiration at the many entertainments to which she has been invited. She was one of the belles of the carnival German Friday night, and at the opera Saturday. No box attracted more general admiration than that in which she was the central figure. She wore a white tulle gown, embroidered in silver sequins, and in her hair a single American beauty rose.

Miss Thomas is with Mr. and Mrs. Ben Duke, of New York, and their charming daughter, Miss Mary Duke, and with them leaves Thursday for a two months' trip in California.

Miss Colzey's Party.

At Miss Louise Colzey's party, given yesterday afternoon in honor of Walter Daniel, the guest of Mrs. Joseph Gregg, of Inman Park, the top score was made by Mrs. R. M. Boykin, the prize, a dainty lace handkerchief, was won by Mrs. Loyd Parker, and the guest prize, a coat hanger, was presented to Miss Daniel. A dainty luncheon was served after the game, and the house was beautifully decorated in jonquils.

Cooking Club.

At the meeting of the Cooking Club, held yesterday at the home of Miss Louise Scott, the prize for the daintiest dish, was won by Miss Clifford Hunter. The next meeting will be with Miss Hunter.

At the Capital City Club.

Colonel and Mrs. Robert J. Lowry will entertain at an elegant dinner at the Capital City Club this evening.

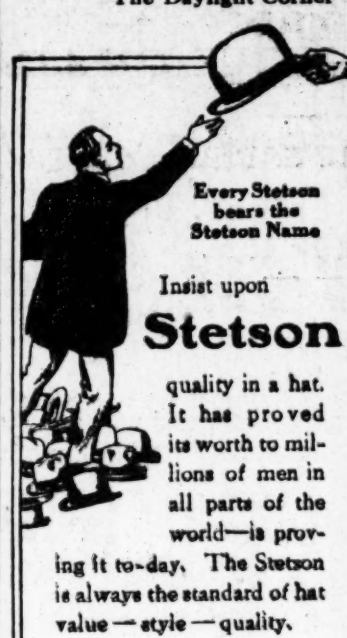

To Miss DuBose.

At the beautiful dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Inman in honor of their niece, Miss Caroline DuBose, there were assembled an unusually large number of young women. Beside the hostess and guests of honor, they were: Miss Susan McPheeters of Raleigh, Misses Margaret Ladson, Caroline Wynn, Emma Belle DuBose, Mary Brent Smith, Elizabeth Adair and Edna McCandless; Messrs. James Alexander, Philip Calhoun, West Teltone, Bowie Martin, Winship Nunnally, Thomas Keenan, Willis Ragan and W. Lynn Warner.

The table decorations were in pink, the centerpiece in pink roses, arranged in star-shaped design. The candlesticks of silver had their shades of pink silk rose petals, and all the minor appointments of the table were in pink.

Mrs. Inman was elegantly gowned in pink chiffon cloth embroidered, and trimmed in point lace.

panied comic gifts from all the guests were features of amusement.

In the party were Miss Silvey Spear, Miss Harriet Calhoun, Miss Sarah Rawson, Miss Ethelyn Emmons, Miss Donna Bain, Miss Aurelia Spear, Mr. Stuart Witham, Mr. Claborn Glover, Mr. George Spear, Mr. Floyd McRae, Jr., Mr. Hubbard Allen, Mr. Chesley Hallie.

To Miss Berry.

An enjoyable affair of yesterday was Miss Edith Coffield's bridge party in compliment to Miss Margaret Berry. Pink and white carnations made an effective decoration throughout the house, and the game was followed by a dainty luncheon. The prizes were lacquered boxes for gloves and handkerchiefs, and Miss Berry was presented a silver bell.

Miss Coffield was a charming hostess wearing white voile and princess lace, and Miss Berry wore a handsome linen suit embroidered.

Meetings.

The regular monthly meeting of the executive board of the Atlanta Women's Missionary Association will be held today at 10:30 o'clock at the Y. W. C. A. rooms. Representatives from all societies contributing to the "Travelers' Aid" are expected to attend.

The Minerva Coterie will meet with Mrs. A. H. Merrill, 34 Norcross avenue, on Friday, March 6, at 8 p. m. The art of the Japanese as expressed in flowers and landscape gardening, will be discussed, as well as agriculture and mining, closing with fairy tales as the Japanese know them.

Social Items.

Mrs. Eula Griffin is in Rome.

Mr. Will Allen has returned from New York.

Miss Emma Nestor has returned to Rhode Island.

Miss May McDonald has returned to Pennsylvania.

Mr. Beaumont Davison has returned from New York.

Miss Mary Brent Smith will visit Macon in the early spring.

Mrs. George Guntton, of Hot Springs, Va., is at the Piedmont.

Miss Annie May Stephens is the guest of Miss Louise Scott, of Decatur.

Miss Elizabeth Adair will entertain her French club tomorrow morning.

Miss Agnes Ransford is visiting Mr. and Mrs. L. DeGivie at Rockledge, Fla.

Mr. Forrest Adair, Jr., will remain at Homosassa, Fla., for several weeks longer.

Mr. George Martin, of Newnan, spent the weekend in the city on his way to Chattanooga.

Mr. Ben Steele, of Dothan, Ala., is the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Steele.

Miss Evelyn Martin has returned to Newnan after spending several days with Miss Kate Waldo.

Little Miss Marie Donnelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Donnelly, who has been quite ill, is better.

Mrs. James Lowry and Mrs. Gidger, of Dalton, are the guests of Mrs. J. I. Lowry on Jackson street.

Miss Cecil V. Kendrick will entertain Mr. Patton's Bible class this evening at the home of Mrs. Henry M. Wood, 51 East Georgia avenue.

Mrs. Elliott Matthews was hostess yesterday at a pretty luncheon in honor of Mrs. T. O. Chantry, of Macon, the guest of Mrs. Davies Davis.

The Misses Penn, of North Carolina, arrive tomorrow night to visit Miss McGowan Phelan, and a number of parties are planned in their honor.

Miss Alice May Freeman is quite ill at the home of her mother, Mrs. Lella L. Freeman, on West Peachtree street. She was resting comfortably yesterday.

The many admirers in Atlanta of Miss Rose Crutchfield, of Macon, will be interested to learn that she will return to Atlanta after Easter as the guest of Miss Mary Brent Smith, when a number of parties will be given in her honor. In her beauty and brightness she makes friends wherever she goes and is one of the acknowledged beauties in the state.

NO EVIDENCE FOR HARTJE.

He Alleges His Wife Has Failed to Make Out Case.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 3.—Contending that the prosecution had failed to present evidence to support either the charge of conspiracy or subornation of perjury, upon which Augustus Hartje, a millionaire paper manufacturer; John L. Welshons, his friend, and Clifford Hooe, a negro, formerly employed as coachman, for the Hertie family, have been on trial for over a week, attorneys for these defendants today announced that no testimony would be offered in defense.

Opposing counsel occupied the remainder of the day in arguments, at the conclusion of which, the judge said he would announce his decision in the morning.

FOR PHYSICAL EXAMINATIONS.

Longino's Ordinance to Be Brought Up at Next Meeting.

The ordinance by Councilman Longino providing for a physical examination of all applicants to the public schools and of all teachers and janitors will be revived at the next meeting of the ordinance committee, and the ordinance gives promise of becoming one of the war issues of the year in council.

The ordinance by Councilman Longino provides that each applicant shall be examined every year before entering the public schools, not only as to general health, but as to eyesight. This examination may be made by the city health officer or his assistants, or by the private family physician.

If any defects are discovered, then the duties of the child must be so modified as not to further injure the eyesight or the health of the pupil. If any pupil has any disease that is infectious or is in ill health, this pupil must not be allowed to continue in school until a doctor's certificate showing recovery is produced.

The ordinance provides practically the same regulations for teachers and janitors. It was offered by Councilman Longino last year, and placed on the agenda of the board of education.

The ordinance provides practically the same regulations for teachers and janitors. It was offered by Councilman Longino last year, and placed on the agenda of the board of education. It was also offered by Councilman Johnson prohibiting the board from making any change in the text-books during 1908 and 1909.

Bought to Sell at Prices Very Decidedly In Your Favor

These Stylish and Beautiful New Dresses of Silk

When the chance came and these Dresses were bought, we knew then, as now, your surprise and pleasure that as beautiful, well-made, faultless Dresses could be owned for so very little money. We never found a manufacturer before who was willing to give such price advantage, and yet these without exception are absolutely new Dresses.

Into three attractive groups the remarkable purchase is divided, as follows—Dresses of good, strong Silk in wide color range, newly made and correct in style and fit:

$9.25

Stylish and effective, Princess Dresses of Taffeta silk, with full box pleated skirt. The attractive waist has yoke and sleeves of ecru Brussels net, made over soft Japanese silk. The yoke, shoulders and cuffs are braided with self-color soutache, front trimmed with small gilt buttons.

They come in black and favorite shades—brown, leather-color, navy, Copenhagen blue, tan and reseda green. $9.25—the lowest price we have ever known as pleasing Dresses to be offered for.

$11.75

This collection of Dresses of Chiffon Taffeta, soft and rich, in a beautiful Princess design. Down front and back of waist are panels of lace and strappings of fancy silk braid and Taffeta, new and effective. The yoke of lace and dainty tucked net. The beautiful sleeves of Brussels net with four graceful flounces of lace.

Full pleated skirt, cut very wide and finished with bias fold. In brown, tan, navy, Copenhagen blue, leather-color, reseda green, and black; $11.75.

$18.50

Charming Dresses are these, of Taffeta silk, in black, leather-color, reseda green, champagne and royal blue. Princess design with elaborate yoke, front and back, of large silk-embroidered medallions, with cords of silk whipped together forming a beautiful openwork effect.

Shoulders and yoke are outlined with a myriad of pin tucks; three-quarter sleeves with fancy tucked cuffs. Wide pleated skirt with two folds. Remarkably handsome Dresses for the price; $18.50.

Sixty of the Season's Newest Suits

Estimable Styles. Fine Materials and Well Fitting---Yet

Down In Price to $12

When you see these splendid Suits, and try them on, so stylish and well-fitting, and so perfectly made, then, instead of now, can you appreciate fully just how remarkable they are for the price.

We put down a few words to try and tell you more what they are like:

Every suit is of this season, the styles are pleasing, the Suits are superbly made, in single or double-breasted, half-fitted models, and another important item, all the coats are lined with Taffeta silk.

The skirts of these Suits are made 17-gore style, measuring 5 to 5½ yards around bottom. Full pleated and finished with a 4-inch bias fold.

The materials are all-wool, Worsted mostly, little stripes and checks in light and dark colors.

Some in gray invisible checks; others tan checks, with overplaid of Copenhagen blue; and tan grounds with ecru and green stripes; and in the darker colors, black grounds with threads of brown, royal blue and white; and plaids of black and golden brown.

They are correct in every way, really handsome Suits, good, practical styles that at the price are sure to depart almost at once. Only sixty of them, remember; don't delay. $12.

Dainty Lingerie Dresses at $5

Another shipment, including four styles of silky, fine mercerized Mull Dresses, beautiful and in excellent taste for dainty evening wear.

Princess Dresses of new design, elaborate yokes of tucks and lace, with narrow beadings and large embroidered medallions. Shoulders broad and graceful, full, stylish sleeves; pleated skirts with lace, self-folds and blocks of narrow tucks. In white, pink, light blue, ecru and lavender. $5.

Many Different Styles of Skirts

New and at Specially Low Prices

We are offering an extensive variety of the better styles of Skirts, for spring wearing; and among them, quite a number of extraordinary values.

Voile Skirts are prominent, in black and colors, though Panama, Sicilian, Serge and Skirts of other correct materials are also shown. The selection and opportunity of saving includes Skirts like these, for example:

New Sicilian Skirts at $4

These stylish and popular Skirts are made with 29 pleats. Finished attractively at bottom with groups of pin tucks. A very good grade of Sicilian in cream, blue, golden brown, gray and black. Brand new Skirts at a very low price—$4 each.

Stylish Panama Skirts at $3.75

Newly made, for service as well as style. Skirts of all-wool Panama, attractively pleated and finished with wide self-fold. Black, also brown. Offered at $3.75.

Cream Serge Skirts at $7.50

Plain cream Serge or with invisible stripe—two styles. Made with gored sides, pleated front and back, cut unusually wide. Finished at bottom with a three-inch bias fold and two narrow self-straps. Handsome new Skirts. $7.50.

Beautiful Voile Skirts at $7

Strong, wiry Voile—Altman Voile—in navy blue, brown and black. Beautifully made, effective Skirts with 31 pleats, finished with one wide and six narrow bands of Taffeta. The best fitting, most attractive Skirts we ever had for $7.

These New Voile Skirts at $10

Five styles of very handsome new Skirts, made of Altman Voile, in black, brown and blue. Among them, conspicuous for style and value, are the Skirts following:

Beautifully pleated Skirts with six narrow bands of Taffeta at bottom, extending up sides and finished with buttons. $10.

Another, gored model, a charming Skirt made 17-gore style with flared folds of Taffeta covered with narrow straps of Duchesse satin. $10.

Many other styles of new Voile Skirts, and equally good values at $12.50, $15, $17.50, up to $35.

MME. ZEISLER TALKS OF CONTEMPORARY MUSIC

By R. A. S. Johnson.

After an absence of a season, Madame Fannie Bloomfield Zeisler, of Chicago, the greatest of all American pianists, arrived in Atlanta yesterday to prepare for her concert at the Grand on Saturday night.

Madame Zeisler has for many years stood preeminently above all performers in this country, and on a par, if not above, those in Europe. No woman has ever achieved the success she has on the piano. Her work is of the most delicate and finished type; her talent is seldom found; and her steady, concentrated efforts cannot only be met with in extreme cases. As she expresses it, the true way to success in music "is by hard work, by constant practice, by intense interest in what is set before you."

At the Piedmont hotel last night, Madame Zeisler expressed an opinion which has long been sought for from a celebrated musician, that being the growth of musical education in America. In twenty years, she said, the study had advanced remarkably in this country, with the greatest of rapidity. She seemed to be exceedingly optimistic as to the outcome, and stated she hoped that some day music would be a part of the curriculum in every school in the United States.

On this subject she said: "Musical education in America is progressing enormously. When I first went on concert tours, I noticed that my audiences did not show very much appreciation. Today almost every place I go, even in places where music years ago did not exist, I find appreciative hearers, people who hear and know what they are listening to. "Music should be a part of everybody's education. Of course, we cannot all expect to become a Liszt, but the main object is to appreciate. We learn to scan poetry at school. Now, every child who studies poetry does not expect to become a poet, but they do know the study will strengthen and broaden the mind. We should study music for the same reason. Musical education should not be looked upon as a cow to milk. Everybody cannot possibly become a finished musician, a concert player, but everybody can appreciate an orchestra, a pianist, a musician. There is nothing that affords a more pleasing, a higher sense of recreation than music. The man who has devoted his life to business would feel better and find more rest after an exceedingly hard day if he could come home at night and play. He would enjoy life more if he could hear a concert with intelligence. "Madame Zeisler spoke in very high terms of the late Macdowell. "I do not think," she said, "that Macdowell was appreciated as he should have been. Americans do not appreciate their own artists as they should. Macdowell had the most beautiful nature of any musician I ever met. He was the greatest of poets, but his life was ruined by some sad events. If he could have only been recognized by his people before too late."

Talking of the late Edward Crieg, she praised him above all of the late composers. "I do not think we shall have many more like him. He was so original. A man of a great mind and a true great composer."

Special requests have been made of Madame Zeisler by some well-known local musicians for certain selections to be added to her program. She has decided to grant their requests and will play: "Hark! Hark! the Lark!" by Schubert, and "Erl Koenig" by Schubert. In addition on her program are two selections by Macdowell: "Winter" and "The Brook."

Technique is among the first questions raised by a musician. Madame Zeisler has reached that point where it is almost perfection. Of course, experts recognize that exact finish cannot be arrived at on the piano, but when one hears this performer her finesse bears with it a "perfect" charm; and the touch, another vital question, is beyond criticism. The expression, still another problem, stands out as the greatest feature of her playing. There may be some compositions which the average person could not ordinarily understand nor appreciate. There are some which under the hand of a novice would grate on the nerves, but under Madame Zeisler's interpretation a new light, a new understanding is discovered at once. Her intellect, and that is the greatest part of interpretation, the force of character and the origin of the correct expression, is what makes her the greatest performer. It is not the simple reading of notes that makes great musicians, but the thought, the love, and the light in the performer's mind. You realize at once that, although you may have never heard what she is playing, that it is worth your attention, and before you leave you believe you have received an untold benefit. It is for this reason she has long been recognized at the head of the profession.

FIRE ON IMPUDENT NEGRO.

Negro Said, "How do, Honey," and Mrs. Long Empty Pistol.

Kansas City, Mo., March 3.—Mrs. Callie M. Long fired five shots from her revolver at a negro who entered her little restaurant at 516 East Fifteenth street late last night. Two of the bullets took effect, but the negro escaped. The negro had saluted the woman with, "How do, honey," and Mrs. Long began firing almost before he had finished his salutation. Mrs. Long was born and reared in Texas, and lived at Shawnee, Okla., before coming to Kansas City.

KING WILL TRY FOR ARMY PLACE

Well-Known Young Atlantan Is Named for Competition for Appointment.

Captain Ed P. King, Jr., a well known young attorney of Atlanta, son of E. P. King, of the railway mail service, was yesterday designated by Governor Smith as the Georgia national guard officer to enter the competition to be held in July, next, at Fort Riley, Kansas, for appointment by the president to the position of second lieutenant in the United States army.

The governor recently received a communication from the war department, inviting him to name a candidate in this competition from the national guard of Georgia, among the requirements being that the appointee should have served at least two years in the militia and should not be under 21 nor over 27 years of age. Captain King is just 22 years old, and has had a little more than the required experience in the national guard.

Captain King has, for about two years past, been captain of the second field artillery battery of artillery, which he himself organized in Atlanta, and has brought up to a state of splendid efficiency.

It is quite an honor that Captain King should have been selected out of thirteen applicants from all parts of the state. Eight of these applications were from the ranks and four were from lieutenants in the state troops.

Municipal Election at Rome.
Rome, Ga., March 3.—(Special.)—The regular election for mayor and councilmen of Rome occurred today. There was no opposition to the ticket nominated at the primary and all the votes cast were for that ticket. The vote will reach about 350. The ticket nominated today is: Mayor, T. W. Lipscomb, and councilmen, E. W. Best, D. R. Hamilton, Jr., Ike May, Luke Mitchell, P. N. Vandiver, F. W. Copeland, S. J. Chambers, Tom Lloyd. These men will go into office the first Monday in April.

Woman's Nightmare

No woman's happiness can be complete without children; it is her nature to love and want them as much so as it is to love the beautiful and pure. The critical ordeal through which the expectant mother must pass, however, is so fraught with dread, pain, suffering and danger, that the very thought of it fills her with apprehension and horror. There is no necessity for the reproduction of life to be either painful or dangerous. The use of Mother's Friend so prepares the system for the coming event that it is safely passed without any danger. This great and wonderful remedy is always applied externally, and has carried thousands of women through the trying crisis without suffering. Send for free book containing information of priceless value to all expectant mothers. The Bradfield Regulator Co., Atlanta, Ga.

S. W. M'CALLIE IS NEW GEOLOGIST

Was for 14 Years Assistant State Geologist and Was Highly Recommended.

Professor S. W. McCallie, who for fifteen years has been connected with Georgia's geological survey, chiefly in the capacity of assistant state geologist, was yesterday selected as state geologist to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Professor W. S. Yeates.

The appointment was made by Governor Smith, with the approval of the state geological board, which met in the governor's office at noon and remained in session for an hour and a half discussing the department and its work. No decision was reached as to the successor of Professor McCallie in the capacity of assistant geologist.

Professor McCallie is an able and expert geologist. He had the highest recommendations for the appointment, among them letters from Professor Charles W. Dabney, president of the University of Cincinnati and formerly chancellor of the University of Tennessee, where Professor McCallie was graduated; from President K. G. Matheson, of the Tech, and from B. M. Hall, a well-known Georgian now in the service of the United States government as a geologist. Professor McCallie also holds a diploma from Johns Hopkins university.

In addition to the foregoing, Professor McCallie has had a wide experience in practical work in connection with the Georgia survey, and the majority of the bulletins issued by the department in late years at least, have been prepared by him. He has also done the major portion of the fieldwork of late, and thus adds to his equipment as a geologist, generally speaking, an intimate knowledge of the situation as it exists in this state.

STILL WARMER; PARTLY CLOUDY

Looks as if Spring Weather Has Come to Stay.

The weather: Partly cloudy with little change in the temperature today. Atmospheric conditions over the country have changed very materially since Monday morning. The eastward movement of the high area has caused a fall in the temperature as far south as Tennessee. Spring conditions seem to be in vogue now, and predictions are that they will continue at least for another twenty-four hours. It was very little on the cool side, but the clouds were present. A German scientist says man was created with far more beauty than women. He goes on further to state that there is not a feature in the male which is not superior to the corresponding feature in the female. At last love has had a blow. What is the use in caring for a woman when you are prettier than she is? Should you happen to explode such opinions to the public, you had better think—The thermometer is ranging in the sixties nowadays.

"NOW FOR A YAWN AND A STRETCH."

SPLIT BY REPUBLICANS.

Two Sets of Delegates Named at Atlanta, Ala.

Atlanta, Ala., March 3.—Both factions of the republican party held conventions for the seventh congressional district here today. Both elected two delegates to the national convention. The administration faction unanimously endorsed Secretary Taft for president and elected J. J. Curtis, of Winston, and G. H. Ashley, of Etowah, delegates to the national convention. The anti-administration faction elected Dr. J. I. Armstrong, of Cullman, and R. E. Anderson, of Fort Payne, as instructed delegates. Both conventions had representatives from every county in the district.

AS MISS HARRIMAN WEDS DOCTORS WATCH SISTER

New York, March 3.—Miss Cornelia Harriman, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Harriman, was married at noon today to Robert Livingston Gerry, son of Commodore and Mrs. Elbridge T. Gerry, of New York. The ceremony occurred at Grace Episcopal church.

The bride was given away by her father and the officiating clergyman was the Rev. Dr. W. R. Huntington, pastor of Grace church, assisted by Rev. J. H. McGuinness, of Arden, where Mr. Harriman's country place is located, and the benediction was pronounced by the Right Rev. W. C. Doane, the bishop of Albany. The maid of honor was Mary Harriman, the bride's sister, and the bridesmaids were the Misses Ruth Averill, Marion A. Clark, Margaret Dix, Elsie Howland and Anita Peabody. Miss Carol Harriman, another sister of the bride, was unable to act as bridesmaid because of illness.

The bride's gown was of white satin trimmed with point de Venice lace and she wore a Louis XV veil of point applique. The color scheme of the wedding was pink. The bridesmaids being gowned in peach-colored chiffon over taffeta silk of the same hue, the brown plumes of their brown hats being tipped with peach. Mrs. Harriman wore a superb costume of pale mauve chiffon embroidered with hat of the same color. The best man was Peter Goelet.

$3,250 FOR Ponce de Leon avenue home. The best chance of the season for a rare bargain. Two-story, seven-room house and an elegant lot in splendid location. There's a big profit in this property, and you'll quickly see it. It's just one of those rare chances that seldom turn up. Easy terms.

PEACHTREE HOMES—THE GENUINE.
I HAVE several that think will interest you. I have one particularly beautiful and elegant home for $20,000 that was ever offered on the north side, and it will pay you to see me about it. Also some fine homes on West Peachtree, Ponce de Leon avenue, Piedmont avenue, and other fine north side streets.

$3,000 FOR a lovely 60-foot front lot on splendid north side street. All street improvements down. Price reduced for special reasons. An elegant bargain.

$1,600 FOR pretty 6-room cottage that was built by the owner for his home. It will rent for $48 per month, and pay 1 1/2 per cent interest. The house alone cost $1,600, and you're getting the nice lot. It's only about 3 years old, and in first-class condition.

$1,750 FOR a beautiful lot on one of the best main north side streets in elegant neighborhood. Water, gas, sewer and the sidewalks. You can find another one like it for anything like this price.

$2,500 FOR an elegant vacant lot in half block of Peachtree and in very choice location. You can't find these often.

PEACHTREE ROAD—That magic sound, this music to think etc., etc. All the same I've got it. It's a bargain. I have several hundred feet frontage on this magic road at 2 feet above street level. I have a beautiful property, with fine depth, lovely shade and not too far out.

$2,100 FOR lovely Ansley Park lot. Fine size, and beautiful location. This is another specially reduced price, and it's a pick-up for somebody. I have a splendid list of Ansley Park lots and can suit you.

$800 FOR pretty West End lot. On one of the best residence streets, in nice neighborhood and on car line. Water, gas, sewer and sidewalks.

I HAVE a splendid list of north side homes and residences, and it will pay you to see me about them before buying, also a fine list of Ansley Park lots and all good parts of the city. Also fine list of Decatur property.

WHEAT ADVANCED OVER TWO CENTS.

Chicago, March 3.—Wheat prices on the local exchange advanced over two cents per bushel today, owing to brisk demand by shorts and bull leaders. At the close the May delivery showed a net gain of 2 1/4-3/8c. Corn was up 1 1/8c. Oats were 1/2c higher. Provisions were 12 1/2-25/32c higher.

The wheat market was strong all day, with the exception of a brief period immediately following the opening. The feeling was somewhat nervous at the start, as a result of the sharp decline yesterday, but after the first few minutes an active demand for elevator interests started prices upward.

The advancing tendency continued throughout the remainder of the session. The market received vigorous support in the last half of the day from shorts and bull leaders, the demand from these sources being based on a large extent on reports to the effect that stocks of wheat in the northwest are now extremely small. Continued small receipts at all primary markets in this country also helped to stimulate demand. The market closed strong with prices almost at the top.

May opened at 1.00-1.01c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 124,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 314,000 bushels, compared with 509,000 bushels the corresponding day a year ago. Minneapolis receipts were 298,000 bushels, compared with 298,000 bushels last week and 425 a year ago.

Persistent buying on the part of leading shorts stamped the market with a pit and forced prices up more than 10c from the low point of the day. The market closed strong with prices almost at the top.

Provisions were strong almost all day following a slight weakness at the opening due to a 5 to 10 cent decline in live hogs. Several of the leading local packers were credited with liberal purchases, and this buying was for the strength. At the close May pork was up 30c to 35c at $12.00 to $12.05. Lard was 2 1/2-3c higher at $7.80. Ribs were up 12 1/2-15c at $24.00 to $24.50. Estimated receipts for tomorrow: 270 cars; hogs, 375 cars; oats, 274 cars; hogs, 3,000 head.
